SECRET PACT OF STANDARD AND SINCLAIR IS DESCRIBED

Anti-Trust Case Witness Asserts Sinclair Employees Were Told to Eliminate All Other Competition.

SHOWS CHECKS
PAID AS REBATES

Asserts Politician in Kansas City Was Offered 1 Cent
a Gallon in Effort to Get City's Business.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 20.—
Evidence of a secret agreement between the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana and the Sinclair Refining Co.
of Missouri to get control of gasoline prices, was disclosed today in a resumption of the hearing before Attorney-General Barrett seeking to determine if the Standard has been violating the Missouri antitrust laws.

The witness who made these disclosures was C. M. Reynolds of Kansas City, former city sales manager there of the Sinclair company.
Reynolds testified at the previous hearing that as sales manager he was forbidden by superiors to resist the business of the Standard, but he did so after the business of the independents with a view of driving them from the state.

On April 27, about 10 days before the Standard began its campaign of Sinclair, he made an affidavit concerning the alleged business methods of his company and certain business understandings with the Standard. Reynolds today read this affidavit to the jury. It was sworn to at Reynolds, and the latter affirmed as fact on the witness stand what was read. This affidavit will be the main part of the record.

Division Managers Met.
It is Reynolds' story that all the Sinclair division managers met in Kansas City Jan. 12, 1923, and were informed by W. T. Dinkens, a district manager, that since were to make necessary the elimination of all competition in Missouri except the Standard. Reynolds testified he was told to work in this end and cost prices for this purpose. He said he called all his men together and so instructed them.

As a consequence, Reynolds testified, the Sinclair company got eight new filling station accounts within a week by paying the dealers $15 to $20 a month for pump rental and 4 to 1 cent a gallon rebate on gasoline.

It appears, according to Reynolds, that a Standard account was also obtained in this drive, but was not taken because of a protest by C. C. Griffin, Kansas City manager of the Standard.

About the same time, according to Reynolds' affidavit and testimony, the Sinclair company made an agreement with the Garage Association of Kansas City to pay into the association's treasury a rebate of 1/4 of a cent a gallon on Sinclair gasoline sold by members of the association, and to pay a month pump rental to the members. This brought a threat from the Standard to abolish the rebate between tank wagon and filling station gasoline unless the practice was stopped. Reynolds testified accordingly.

Sought Deal With City.
At one time the Sinclair company wanted the business of the city of Kansas City, Reynolds testified, and a Sinclair representative was instructed to call on Casimir J. Welch, Justice of the Peace and politician, and offer him a rebate of 1 cent a gallon on all Sinclair gasoline that could be sold to the city through his influence.
What came of this proposal was not brought out today.

Several checks signed by him, amounting in amounts from $3 to $100 and made payable to filling station men, were shown to Reynolds.
He identified them as rebates he declared he was instructed to make by the Sinclair company and for which he was reimbursed through his expense account.

Testimony that oil companies operating in Kansas City had practiced rebating was given by H. H.
Moore, manager of the Black and White Talcum Co. in Kansas City.
Moore said he formerly purchased gasoline from the Sinclair company, but until about a year ago switched to the Standard.

BOY WHO WAS KILLED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

HERBERT PRATTE.

DRIVER EXONERATED IN BOY'S DEATH

Coroner's Jury Finds Herbert Pratte, 6, and Girl Stepped in Path of Auto.

A Coroner's jury today returned a verdict exonerating John H. Murphy, 33, a salesman, of Overland, in the inquest into the death of 6-year-old Herbert Pratte, who was struck yesterday afternoon by a Ford sedan driven by Murphy.
The boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs.
Albert Pratte of 5917 Wells avenue,
and his 8-year-old playmate,
Anna Josephine Feikel, of 5915 Wells avenue, stepped hand-in-hand from in front of an automobile parked at the curb midway between Wells and Easton avenues, to Hamilton avenue, Murphy testified. He said he was driving about 10 or 12 miles an hour, when the children stepped directly in the path of his car. He testified he stopped within a few feet.

The boy suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries and died at 2:35 p. m., an hour and a half later, at St. Luke's Hospital. The injured girl also was removed to St.
Luke's, where she was found to have suffered fractures of both legs, internal injuries and a probable fracture of the skull. Her condition is critical.

SURGEONS GRAFT SHINBONE ON PATIENT'S SPINE

Operation at Baltimore Hospital
Said to Be Most Remarkable of Kind.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 20.— Surgeons at Johns Hopkins Hospital have performed what they believe to be the most remarkable bone-graft operation in the history of the institution. In the transplantation of a piece of bone from the lower right leg to the spinal column of Forrest Wierford, 35, of Newport, W. Va.

Wierford received a dislocated
vertebra in an automobile accident
three years ago, and his condition became gradually worse, until he was brought to Johns Hopkins four weeks ago. Physicians at the hospital found that complications had set in which necessitated removal of the diseased vertebra. As it was impossible to shorten the spine, a piece of shin-bone was shaped into the form of a vertebra and inserted in the weakened part of Wierford's back. He then was placed in a plaster cast. The operation was said to be successful.

ROBBERS GET $13,000 IN KANSAS CITY HOLDUP

Three Unmasked Men Enter Corn
Exchange Bank, in Residential District.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 20.—
Three unmasked men today held up the Corn Exchange Bank, at Thirty-first street and Indiana avenue, and escaped with approximately $13,000.

Most of the loot was in currency,
according to H. C. Moore, cashier.
Moore and a bookkeeper were alone in the bank, a suburban institution, when the robbers entered.
No shots were fired and it is believed the robbers escaped in a motor car.

GALE AT SEA DELAYS WORLD FLYERS' START

LOCATELLI TO FLY WITH U. S. AIRMEN

If Weather Moderates Everything Will Be Ready for a Hop-Off Early Thursday Morning.

By the Associated Press.
REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 20.—
The American round-the-world flyers and Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator, who will accompany them on their flight to the North American continent, will take off on continental long lap to Reykjavik, near Cape Farewell, East Greenland, at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning, it was decided today.

The decision was made at a conference on board the United States cruiser Richmond, between Rear Admiral Thomas P. Macruder, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander of the round-the-world flyers, and Lieut. Locatelli.

A gale delayed the United States cruiser Richmond, which arrived at 9:04 o'clock this morning, bringing a propeller and sprayer bar for the plane. The spare parts for the airplanes were immediately taken ashore.

It is expected that repairs to the two planes, which were damaged
in an attempted start for Fred-ericksdal Monday, will require only about two hours.

If there is any further delay owing to the weather and the condition of the planes, the start for Fred-ericksdal, which is planned for Thursday morning, will be postponed.
The flyers may decide to start
for that landing point in Greenland, as originally intended, instead of attempting the longer jump to Fredericksdal.

ZANNI WON'T TRY TO RESUME FLIGHT

By the Associated Press.
TOKYO, Aug. 20.—Regret was expressed throughout Japan today when news was received here from Hanoi, French Indo-China, telling of the overturning of the plane of Major Zanni, a French aviator, who was attempting to fly from Hanoi to Canton.

Zanni's plane was put out of commission, he will make no further attempt to continue the flight. It had already been determined that he would not attempt to cross the Pacific.

The information was received here
just as Garcia Urbani, Argentine Minister, completed arrangements for the flight of Zanni across Japan. Through the ready co-operation of Japanese officials, who aided in locating the same landing places prepared for Dole, the French aviator, Zanni's landing fields would have been the best.

PAT HARRISON RETURNED TO SENATE FROM MISSISSIPPI

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 20.—Mississippi Democrats, voting in the primary election yesterday, returned to the Senate their senior Senator, Pat Harrison, and his opponent, Ex-Gov. Brewer, who were offered for renomination.
Nomination is equivalent to election.

Senator Harrison carried every county in the State, including that of his opponent, former Gov. Brewer. Returns available, including all sections of the State, gave Harrison 45,043 against Brewer's 11,254. State Senator W. M. Whittington of Greenville was the only nonincum-bent to receive a Congressional nomination.

Astronomers Watch Mars For Signs of Human Life

Red Planet Comes 7,000,000 Miles Closer to Earth This Week Than for 50 Years.

(Copyright, 1924.)
LICK OBSERVATORY, MOUNT
HAMILTON, SAN JOSE, CAL., Aug.
20.—Although giant telescopes of six Pacific Coast observatories have swung into action and a small army of astronomical savants is sleeping by day and scanning the heavens by night, it is improbable that Mars in its trip to a point seven million miles nearer the earth
this week will divulge the momentous secret of whether it is inhabited.

Because of the clearer atmospheric conditions prevailing here,
more than three score astronomers,
some of them famous the world over and most of whom believe that Mars may be inhabited either by animal or human life, started the most intimate studies they ever have been able to make of that celestial body under modern auspices last Monday night.

Mars Starts This Way.
At that time the mystery planet started moving in what scientists term "opposition" to the earth, and during the trip will narrow down the usual 42,000,000-mile-away orbit on which it travels to a mere 35,000,000 miles.

"Close-up" studies of Mars, however, will continue for almost 10 days, that being the estimated time which the planet will take to return to its more distant 42,000,000-mile pathway.

The principal studies, however,
will be made from Lowell Observatory, Arizona, where Dr. Percival Lowell, famous astronomer, recently completed his epochal photo-

ENGLISH RADIO-AERIAL IS MILE AND A HALF LONG

World's Biggest Station Expected to Establish Communication With Land Telephones.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Detailed plans of a radio station, now being constructed at Hillmorton, England, near London, are contained in an official report to the Department of Commerce. This station, which is expected to be the most powerful in the world, will be able to communicate, according to experience, with any station now in existence.

The aerial of the new station will be a mile and a half long and half a mile wide, and will be supported by 12 masts of 300 feet each and 820 feet high. Each mast will be fitted with an elevator capable of carrying four men.

Sections of the mast are now being transported to Hillmorton.
They are so large that they can be moved only at night and on Sunday, when the traffic is light.

It is understood that it is in this station that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. expects to establish transatlantic telephone communication by means of a telephonic communication thus established on a commercial basis, it is expected that connections may be made with land lines.

by the Rev. N. P. Williams during a sermon he preached recently at

The work of a clergyman is, in a great part, of a dull, trivial kind," he said. "It consists mainly in the singing of chorals which could be well rendered by a moderately efficient gramophone. The personality of the typical clergy-

dren, represents the sort of thing

CITY FIREMAN TAKEN IN FIGHT AS CRACKSMAN

Police, Surrounding Bottling Plant, Catch Two Men Running Away,
After Struggle.

OTHER PRISONER AN EX-CONVICT

Joseph McHenry, Former Fire Captain, Now Is Attached to Forty-Third Engine House.

A telephone message received by the Soudard Street police at 10:50 o'clock last night that a safe robbery was in progress in the office of the Dupuch Bottling Co., 2043
Ann avenue, was responded to by a patrol of 10 policemen and detectives. They surrounded the plant, and in the alley intercepted two men running away, who were subdued after a struggle.

One of the men, the police say,
was in the act of throwing away a five-pound sledge hammer. The other was removing a pair of kid gloves, such as are worn sometimes by safe cracksmen to leave no finger prints, and wore a pair of tortoise-shell glasses. In his pocket was a flashlight.

Treated at Hospital.
After being treated at city hospital for lacerations of the head,
the two men were taken to Soudard Station, where they identified themselves—the man alleged to have had the sledge hammer, as Joseph McHenry, 46 years old and married, of 2514 Dodder street, a former fire captain and now a fireman attached to the Forty-third Engine House at Kingshighway, near Delmar.

McHenry, an ex-convict, was charged with the robbery. The other man, who had been broken open the place entered and the combination knocked off the safe, both prisoners denied knowledge of the robbery. The fireman admitted he knew Brown, but insisted that he was in the neighborhood by chance, having just escorted a married woman, whose name he could not give, to her home in the vicinity. Brown would make no explanation of the gloves, the glasses or the flashlight.

From the description furnished by the telephone informant, the police believe there were four men engaged in the robbery, and that two escaped in an automobile parked in the alley. Joseph Du-puch, of 5462 Delmar boulevard, president of the company, was summoned. He found intact the contents of the safe, consisting of the day's receipts of several hundred dollars, and appraised the damage at $100.

Warrants charging second degree burglary were issued today against McHenry and Brown.

COUZENS TO SUPPORT REPUBLICAN TICKET

Michigan Senator, However, Says He Is "Grateful" for La Follette Indorsement.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Aug. 20.—Senator James Couzens, who during the last session of Congress was frequently aligned with the La Fo-lette group, and whose Republicanism has been questioned by political opponents, announced yesterday in two speeches that he will support the Republican ticket in November, irrespective of the outcome of the September primaries, at which he is a candidate for re-nomination.

Wayne County Women's Republican Club, and later an open air rally at Royal Oak, said he was "grateful" for the recent indorsement of his candidacy by Senator La Follette, but that he was seeking office as a Republican, a supporter of party policies. He added, however, that he expected to have support of his countrymen in party policies and would not accept meekly as the party creed anything handed him by others.

Michigan, he said, is "Republican in the framing of its constitution," and he said he was charged with attempting to create sentiment against him by challenging the degree of his party allegiance.

Couzens said he "probably was in error a year ago when he said the present prohibition laws were unworkable and that he was in favor of 'old-fashioned' beer."

"But I shall say what I mean, regardless of the political error of the remarks," he added. "Nothing
I can do can change the prohibition laws."

Franks Boy

Marshall. "The lesser punishment of 14 years in the penitentiary is imprisonment for life for such crimes," he argued, "do not fit the case."

"The defense is here in an untenable position. They ask you to consider a degree of responsibility as mitigation of punishment but the law recognizes no such degree of responsibility and says that a man can distinguish between right and wrong he is sane."

"A Helpless Little Boy." "Bear this in mind," he addressed the court, "that a helpless little boy was lured into an automobile by these men and done to death with a chisel, purchased and prepared for that purpose."

for what? Their own demand for $10,000 in old bills, to be thrown from a train at a designated place. There is no mitigation offered for these facts."

The attorney re-enforced his points with frequent citations from decisions by the Supreme Court of Illinois, Oregon, Texas, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, dwelling especially upon the Illinois cases, explaining to Judge Caverly that he mentioned the others to show that this State was not unique in holding that ability to distinguish between right and wrong was the sole legal standard of insanity.

Judge Caverly, by the time adjournment was reached, had turned to his feet, resting cross-armed on the back of the chair and gazing intensely at the orator.

Behavior of the Youth. Leopold was the more composed of the defendants and, except for brief comments to Loeb and his counsel, sat motionless, with his arms folded in his lap. Loeb, on the other hand, was continually roving and he seemed interested in something to his left.

where a pretty girl sat, who spent the afternoon in almost one continual yawn. Occasionally Loeb apparently would be in deep thought.

Crowe, a leg thrown over the arm of his chair and his head resting against a large post, listened attentively to the speaker. Darrow sat just behind Marshall in a changeable mood. He would suddenly show above the back of his chair and then, with somewhat of a start, would straighten up and look up some reference in a last book.

Yesterday's forensic effort began after Darrow lost an appeal to the court that the defense be allowed to the burden of proof in offering testimony in mitigation and therefore should be allowed to start and finish the argument. The attorneys agreed that a hearing on the indictment charging the defendants with kidnapping, a capital offense in Illinois, would take place as soon as Cawoe ended the arguments.

BOY INDICTED FOR MURDER OF RICH DIVORCEE

Jury Also Charges Robbery and Assault With Intent to Murder in Antique Shop Shooting.

ONLY 19 OF 30 WITNESSES

Attorney Plans Trial Within a Month—Alienists Say Ex-Boxer Is Suffering Insanity.

Associated Press. ANGELES, Aug. 20.—Kidney was indicted by the grand jury yesterday afternoon on charges of murder, robbery and assault with intent to murder in connection with the killing of Mrs. Theresa in her apartment early last Monday morning and the holding and wounding of two men and a woman in the Mars antique shop hours later.

Witnesses told the grand jury the body of Mrs. Mars, a bullet wound in her head, was found early Wednesday in the apartment she and McCoy had occupied a few hours later than the shooting in the Mars antique shop in the fashionable Westlake district, held up four men, slightly wounded two men and a woman.

There were 11 others waiting to testify, but a comparatively brief examination satisfied the jurors that there was enough evidence on which to base the indictments against McCoy with murder of Mrs. Mars, four counts of robbery with three counts of assault with intent to murder Mrs. Mars, and three counts of assault with intent to murder Mrs. Mars, who tried to escape from the shop while McCoy was in it.

McCoy was arraigned in court today and the indictment was read to him charging with the murder of Mrs. Mars, who flashed and he cried, "I don't know what I did, but I did it." His formal plea, at his attorney's request, was postponed until Monday.

Attorney Aaa Keyes said the indictments had been returned that he expected to go to trial with the murder case within a week, taking personal charge of the defense.

McCoy's attorneys already began to lay the groundwork for an insanity defense, aided by strange ravings on the part of the defendant, which the alienists said were feigned.

One defense alienist examined the prisoner yesterday and said he would make a report on his condition for several days.

McCoy, the boxing Beau Brummage, 20 years ago, strode into the hotel hotel boasting 80 pounds of muscle, the lightest of which he had in his first ring appearance today slouched on a cot in a rooming house.

He is 51 years old and is "broken." He is 51 years old and is "broken."

Alienists Sent Back. District Attorney Keyes sent his alienists back to the examination cell when he heard of McCoy's actions. After observing the alienists, two of the alienists declared that McCoy was feigning insanity.

McCoy visited McCoy yesterday. He was shortly after he began to the city jail by McCoy's attorney, who found the former in no mood to be examined.

According to turnkeys, McCoy entered the doctor with violence and entered his cell, and it was after his attorneys arrived and reasoned with him that he calmed down and permitted the examination.

McCoy was taken to the police station and recovered jewelry he said was lost by his wife's body at the time of the shooting. The alienists accordingly were taken to the home of Mrs. Jennie Mars, the prisoner's sister, with instructions to order her to turn over to the police or district attorney any jewelry her brother may have given her when he came to the apartment after the shooting and the alleged confession.

Patients Awaiting Turn at New Animal Clinic and Shelter of Humane Society

Other Visitors at the Humane Society's Shelter Include Fever and Cancer Sufferers.

The most unusual clinic in the city, the Humane Society's new animal clinic, was opened yesterday at 1613 Carr street, the number of "patients" treated on the first day furnishing ample proof of the need of such an institution.

"Patients" began arriving long before Dr. J. E. Klem, the Humane Society's veterinarian, accompanied the first of the four-footed invalids, a cat that suffered a head injury in a fall. With two exceptions the sufferers were carried in the arms of their masters and mistresses or in market baskets. The exceptions were the cat and a white poodle, that had lost an eye in a canine fracas. "Kitty" was carried in a suit case, and the poodle drove up with its negro mistress in a taxi.

Record of the first day's treatment disclosed that animals suffer from diseases and disorders similar to those which afflict their masters. The record included cases of cancer, fever, nervousness, broken leg, internal injuries, infirmities of age, and sneezing.

The latter case was that of the cat, which had suffered a head injury in a fall from a second-floor porch. Although the cat had lighter feet first in true feline fashion, it had struck its head en route, with the result that it sneezed incessantly. Dr. Klem probed "Kitty's" nostrils and supplied the master, a husky laborer, with medicine for it, and ordered that it be returned next clinic day if the sneezing had not stopped.

The cancer case and the sufferer from the infirmities of age, both of which were executed needlessly.

300 ELECTRICIANS, OUT SINCE AUG. 1, RETURN

Strike Ended When Employers Sign Wage Agreement at Old Scale.

Three hundred members of the Electricians' Local Union No. 1, who struck Aug. 1 when employers refused to renew the working agreement, returned to work today following the signing of a new agreement to expire July 15, next year, at the former wage scale, $14 per hour.

The signing of the agreement by the Electrical Employers' Association with the union was against the advice, and without the consent of the Associated Building Interests of St. Louis, with which the Employers' Association is affiliated. Just how the electrical employers' agreement with their men will affect the former's status in the Associated Building Interests cannot be determined, but it is known that the electrical men's action is regarded in general disfavor by other building crafts employers.

The renewal of the working agreement to expire in mid-season is regarded in building circles as a union victory. It is the purpose of the Associated Building Interests, in the interest of better business, to adjust all working contracts to expire during the winter months, the off season in building construction. Building contractors contend the elimination of the possibility of wage difficulties and increases in mid-season will go far to both stimulate and stabilize building. Thirteen local building crafts are at present working under temporary agreements, it being expected that permanent contracts will be entered into by winter.

By entering into an agreement having a mid-season expiration date, the Electrical Employers' Association has in a measure taken action to defeat the plans of the Building Interests' body, and it is possible that summary action will result.

There are 463 men in the Electricians' Union, about 75 per cent of whom are employed by the Electrical Employers' Association, which comprises 16 of the larger electrical firms. The wage scale of electricians here is the highest paid this craft in any American city.

REMARK CAUSES STABBING

Man Who Had Bitter Resentment to Share It.

John Freitag, 47, of 4641 Minnesota avenue, saw Henry High, 70, a blacksmith, carrying a large bottle in an alley between Minnesota and Michigan, near Neosho avenue, yesterday afternoon.

"You don't need to hide it from me, Henry," said Freitag. "I'll take a drink, too."

High resented the remark, police reported, and stabbed Freitag in the chest and arms with a pocket knife, which he carried in a serious condition at city hospital and High is under arrest.

PIECE OF GLASS TAKEN FROM LUNG OF BOY

Fragment Swallowed by Child Is Removed After Third Operation.

A cylindrical fragment of a glass bracelet, more than a quarter of an inch thick and a half-inch long, broken off to a point at one end, was removed yesterday afternoon at Missouri Baptist Sanitarium from the right lung of Vernon Schuler, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schuler of 2274 Blendon place.

This was the third operation the boy had undergone in two weeks. The shape of the fragment and the depth to which it was imbedded required the making of a special instrument and numerous experiments which sacrificed three days of the boy's life.

The boy will remain at the hospital only for treatment to clear up an abscess which formed while the glass remained in his lung.

Just two weeks ago yesterday Vernon's mother started to punish him for fighting with his younger brother. The child, screaming, put his hand to his mouth. All at once he turned blue and, the mother said yesterday, it seemed minutes before he could tell her he had swallowed a piece of glass he had found and could not describe.

Glass Is Located. He resumed playing later in the day but that night his breathing became so difficult that a physician was called. He advised that the boy be sent immediately to the hospital. An X-ray photograph showed the piece of glass was deep in the right lung. The picture showed a bulk nearly the size of a thumb-nail, but did not show its shape.

The first operation resulted only in moving the fragment slightly. The three surgeons who performed it, who withheld their names for ethical reasons, found that the point of the fragment was protruding to the instruments, it could not be grasped. In addition, swelling around it held it tightly and closed the passage above it. Even if they could have gripped the object, the surgeons feared that an attempt to extract it would tear the lung.

Second Operation Fails. They showed Vernon fragments of glass in a variety of shapes. The one he picked as like the one in his lung was a disc, flat on one side and rounded on the other. When this piece he tried to duplicate the same situation in a dog, choosing the forceps which seemed best adapted there. But they could not duplicate the dwelling, and a second operation failed to remove the object from the boy's lung.

With that experience and further experiments, conducted wherever they could find room—in a basement, on the roof of an office building and at Washington University Medical School—they devised a special forceps. It had spoon-shaped tips on tempered wires, which spread the lung walls from about the fragment and opened the passage above. With it the fragment was extracted.

Illinois Washouts Block Traffic. Special to the Post-Dispatch. GALESBURG, Ill., Aug. 20.—Railway traffic east and north of here was tied up this morning by washouts on the Burlington and Santa Fe railroads. The Burlington tracks are out at a point three miles east of Alton and there was a bad washout between Kewanee and Alton, interrupting service on the Chicago main line. Several hundred feet of track and a 230-foot bridge were washed away on the Buda-Rushville line. Train No. 408 from St. Paul to St. Louis was held up by a washout at Lynn on the Rock Island line. On the Peoria line the tracks were out at Pottawatomie for the fourth time this summer.

Officers of the Standard company summoned by the State are Dr. William Burton, president; Alan Jackson, vice president in charge of sales; Edward Seubert, vice president, secretary and treasurer; Edward Bogardus, assistant to the vice president in charge of sales, and R. T. Clark, general auditor.

The Standard attorneys have indicated they desire to place other officers than these on the stand as the inquiry progresses. The Standard attorneys entered their appearance when the inquiry opened, and with numerous officials have been present at every hearing, but did not cross-examine witnesses in the early hearings.

SAYS PROHIBITION IS CHIEF CAUSE OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

Director of Streets Tells Safety Council Autoists
Here Have Contempt for Traffic Laws.

URGES EXAMINATION OF ALL DRIVERS

Declares "Smart Alecs" Are Deliberately Trying to See How Many Regulations They Can Break.

Prohibition and the contempt for law which it has aroused is to be blamed for the constantly increasing number of automobile accidents in St. Louis, said Clinton H.
Clark, Director of Streets and Sewerage and member of the Traffic Safety Council, speaking before the midsummer meeting of the St. Louis Safety Council at City Club last night.

"I firmly believe the prohibition movement at the bottom of all our trouble," he declared. "The way they are enforced—constantly violated and laughed at—has broken
the moral fiber of the community at large as exemplified in the careless driving on the streets of St. Louis."

There are some men who take great delight in breaking a traffic rule as in violating the Volstead act. There are "smart alecs" who deliberately try to see how many regulations they can break."

Will Advocate Examination.
Clark announced he would submit to the Board of Aldermen in September a bill requiring the illustration of every driver after an examination of his driving abilities. "We cannot build the moral fiber of the 'smart alecs' but we can eliminate a large number of accidents caused by unqualified drivers," he said.

The proposed license bill received the endorsement of representatives of the United Railway Co., the People's Motorbus Co., and the other companies who attended the meeting.

A number of graphic charts,
which showed the comparative trend of automobile and other accidents, were exhibited by Carl H.
Christie, new safety engineer of the council. The charts showed a steady increase in the number of traffic accidents against a decrease in street railway and industrial accidents. Over a period of eight years, the number of traffic accidents is always at its lowest in February, increasing steadily to a maximum in one of the last three months of the year, generally October. Safety Week in November has followed by a steady decrease in the number of auto fatalities until February, when the number was lowest since 1921.

Shows Accident Map.
Christie also exhibited a large map on which he has marked
each street accident since July 1.
While it is yet incomplete, it indicates vividly that a large proportion of accidents occur east of Jefferson avenue, in the congested district, with a heavily-spotted strip
on Grand boulevard from Arsenal street to St. Louis avenue. The concentrations at Grand and Arsenal and at Grand and Washington stand out as the two points where an unusually large number of accidents occur.

Alderman Brod, chairman of the Traffic Council, described the work of the council and spoke of improvements in traffic arrangements downtown since its formation. He praised the 30-day trial rule by which it was possible to confer with nonpartisan rules on Olive street and commented on the settlement of parking difficulties between taxicab companies by the arbitration of the council.
Capt. Clark of the Police Traffic Bureau asked the council to urge a larger police force with increased pay for policemen as a way to maintain traffic discipline.

Matt F. Morse, general manager of the Automobile Club of Missouri, did not agree with Clark's proposed licensing bill. He recommended more policemen, but also blamed a large percentage of the accidents on the mechanical condition of cars. He recommended that car owners, particularly taxicab drivers, have their cars inspected periodically by "experts" to assure their good mechanical condition. He cited instances of expert drivers who had accidents because of neglected cars.

TEXANS MAY JOIN U. S. AGENTS IN FIGHT ON COTTON SMUGGLING

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The U. S. Customs Service is planning to employ a number of Texas citizens to help in the fight against cotton smuggling from Mexico.

Under a plan approved by the U. S. Customs Service, a number of Texas citizens are to be employed as "border guards" to help in the fight against cotton smuggling from Mexico.

The plan was approved by the U. S. Customs Service, which is planning to employ a number of Texas citizens to help in the fight against cotton smuggling from Mexico.

resources necessary to prevent alleged cotton smuggling from Mexico has been vested in border customs officials, according to a message received from Washington yesterday by Congressman John N. Garner of Uvalde.

This information was received by W. B. Clint, president of the local Board of City Development, in a message from Garner.

Collector of Customs Roy Campbell had asked Washington officials for permission to appoint responsible citizens as customs inspectors and the message to Congressman Garner is understood to indicate that this authority will be granted.

Collector Campbell in his wire to the Treasury Department explained that seed cotton is being smuggled into Texas between Roma and Brownsville from Mexico, and that citizens of that section are afraid of the introduction of pink boll worm, which is said to exist in Mexico.

SAYS GERMAN WAR PRISONERS ARE STILL HELD IN SIBERIA

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Bernhard Jantzen, a former German soldier, who was believed to be dead, is home after having spent nearly 10 years in Siberia as a prisoner.

Jantzen says there is still a large number of German war prisoners in Siberia, especially in the district of Tomsk. These men have not been able to communicate with German Government representatives, and are unable to leave the country because of lack of funds and poor transportation facilities. The Government will take steps to repatriate the men.

British Premier Said to Be Working on a Substitute for Draft of Treaty of Mutual Assistance.

HERRIOT ALSO HAS A NEW PROPOSAL

Expected That America Will Be Represented on Two Commissions at September Meeting.

By ARTHUR E. MANN,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
LONDON, Aug. 26.—Premier MacDonald, during his brief vacation in Scotland, is working on a "security" plan, which he will present for discussion at the League of Nations' fifth assembly at Geneva, Sept. 1, according to information furnished the New York World and Post-Dispatch correspondent today at the league quarters here. The scheme will be a substitute for the recent draft of a treaty of mutual assistance prepared by the third commission of the league, and recently submitted for comment to various great Powers.

The treaty of mutual assistance draft was, however, turned down by Great Britain, the United States and Russia, although France unofficially indicated a favorable attitude toward it.

For Partial Arbitration.
The precise nature of the substitute plan being prepared by MacDonald so far has been kept a close secret. Certain officials of the league, however, believe that it will propose a system of at least partial arbitration between European Powers on the important controversial questions now outstanding which might lead to disputes in the next few years.

The British Prime Minister now plans to go to Geneva, Aug. 34—three days before the League Council meeting and six days before the assembly convenes—in order to get in touch with secretarial officials and familiarize himself with the league mechanism. Other British delegates to the assembly will be Lord Parmoor and Arthur Henderson, with Mrs. H. M. Swannick as a member of the Executive Committee of the Union for Democratic Control, and Sir Herbert Llewellyn Smith of the Board of Trade as substitute delegates.

The French Premier, Herriot, and probably the Italian Premier, Mussolini, Belgian Foreign Minister Hymans, Czechoslovakian Foreign Minister Benes and Polish Foreign Minister Count Skrzynski will head the delegations from their respective nations. The chief delegates will make their principal speeches during the assembly discussion of the Secretary General's report on the league's work since the last assembly.

Herriot, it was said in diplomatic circles here today, also is preparing a substitute plan for the treaty of mutual assistance draft, but no inkling of its details have reached London. Inasmuch, however, as a majority of the replies received by the League secretariat to the mutual assistance scheme showed a general desire for the extension of the principles of arbitration, League officials here believe that method the one most likely to be suggested from several quarters to meet the demand for "security."

It is expected here that the United States will be represented on two League bodies at the Assembly—on the third and fifth commissions. The third commission, dealing with armaments, will consider a new plan for the control of private traffic in arms. Hugh Gibson, American Minister at Bern, has been associated with the work of the League's temporary mixed commission which prepared the new scheme, so it is expected that he will attend the Assembly's discussions of that question as "observer."

Another American at the Assembly probably will be Mrs. Hamilton Wright, one of the promoters of the opium commission, who is expected to participate in the work of the fifth commission on social and humanitarian questions. The United States, however, will not be alone this time among the countries having "observers" at the Assembly, for the Russian Soviet Government has given official notification that it will be so represented at the Geneva meeting.

LA FOLLETTE TO GET MOST OF 150,000 UNION VOTES IN STATE, LABOR LEADERS SAY

President of Central Trades Declares Candidate Will Receive Solid Support of Labor and Party Lines Will Be Forgotten.

The La Follette-Wheeler Independent Progressive presidential ticket will get the vote of a substantial majority of the approximately 150,000 trade unionists in Missouri following endorsement of the Progressive ticket by the American Federation of Labor, St. Louis labor leaders predicted yesterday, in response to inquiry by the Post-Dispatch as to the probable effect here of that endorsement.

The Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis, representing 145 local unions having between 65,000 and 70,000 members, has endorsed the La Follette-Wheeler ticket, as has been told, and similar endorsement has been voted by Central labor bodies in St. Joseph, Joplin, Springfield and Hannibal. The Kansas City Central body has not acted in this matter, but is expected to vote the same way.

No labor organization or labor leaders in the State has publicly announced opposition to the La Follette-Wheeler ticket. R. T. Wood of Springfield and George R. Patterson of St. Louis, president and secretary, respectively, of the Missouri State Federation of Labor, are chairman and secretary of the Liberal party of Missouri, which is conducting the La Follette-Wheeler campaign in the State.

Daniel J. Murphy, president, and David Krejling, secretary, of the Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis, each are members of the Liberal Party Executive Committee. Of the remaining 42 members of the Executive Committee, 25 are officers of labor unions or editors of labor publications.

Predicts Victory in State. "The La Follette and Wheeler will get the labor vote solid and will carry St. Louis and the State," said President Murphy of Central Trades. "There is more enthusiasm for La Follette among union labor men than I have ever seen on any one issue. The labor vote will no longer follow party lines, regardless of candidates or issues. "Here in St. Louis a large majority of the labor vote will go to La Follette. A majority of the union labor voters here, I believe, have been Republicans in the past, with Democrats ranking second and a scattering of Socialists. But this year they are all going to vote the independent ticket.

"The endorsement by the Central Trades and Labor Union is being ratified by a number of local unions. That brings the matter right up to the individuals, and I haven't heard of any opposing the movement. "The influence of the labor vote has been considerable in recent elections, but there has been some hesitancy on the part of many to get away from party lines. That will not be the condition this fall.

"We have kept no statistics on how labor has voted in the past. Many of the candidates and measures we have advocated have been defeated, of course, and things we opposed have been successful, but I would say that in a majority of cases, in recent years, we have been successful."

Hauser Declines to Comment. Joseph J. Hauser, former president of Central Trades, declined to comment on the present situation because he is not now actively connected with organized labor, but said he expected results to be better, from labor's viewpoint, this fall than at any time in the past. "The union labor vote is well satisfied with its past successes in St. Louis and Missouri, and will be solidly for La Follette in this election," Secretary Patterson said. "There are about 150,000 union men in the State, and they, with their families, are going down the line for the independent ticket.

"There is nowhere else for them to go. We have never been for President Coolidge. He's an accidental President and became Vice President on a 'strike-breaking' platform. Then the Republicans further antagonized labor by putting up Charles G. Dawes, a notorious open-shop exponent, for Vice President. The Democratic convention refused to listen to the recommendations of platform planks presented by the American Federation of Labor.

"La Follette, on the other hand, has always proven himself to be a champion, not necessarily of the labor union man, but of the masses of the people. In addition his platform contains many planks which labor has advocated for years. "An indication of the strength of the labor vote in Missouri may be seen in the vote on the proposed constitutional amendments submitted last spring. Labor, through the Missouri Federation of Labor, urged the defeat of six amendments and all were beaten. Proposals No. 7, providing for judicial reform, and proposal No. 16, abolishing the primary law, were the two most strenuously opposed by labor. The vote on No. 7 was 123,168 for and 202,814 against. The vote on No. 16 was 122,664 for and 265,927 against.

"Organized labor was actively interested in the race for Judge of the State Supreme Court in 1922 and succeeded in electing those it favored and defeating those it opposed. After that election a member of the Supreme Court gave organized labor credit for swinging 60,000 votes in the State. We'll do better than that in the coming presidential election."

tea and national officers of a number of unions are closely cooperating with the La Follette-Wheeler national campaign headquarters.

Labor leaders declared this to be the first time the American Federation of Labor has taken such a decisive position in a presidential race. Its recommendations have been followed by a considerable number of St. Louis and Missouri labor men in the past and will be given greater weight in this campaign, they say. They could not recall a situation which might be contrasted with the present one to show how strongly union men here would follow an American Federation of Labor endorsement of a candidate or policy in an election.

La Follette-Wheeler campaign officials here have expressed gratification at the endorsement of the independent candidates by the German-American Citizens' Alliance of St. Louis. The alliance, as has been told, is composed of delegates

DO YOU KNOW the difference between GREEN and RIPE olives?

A GREAT many people do not know that there are two kinds of olives. These two varieties are not only widely different in character, but are grown in different parts of the world.

There are ripe olives and green olives.

Ripe olives are purple or black in color. They do not taste like green olives, with which most people are familiar.

Green olives, as their name indicates, are olive-green in color. They are firm in texture—not soft. They are picked when green, cured when green, and bottled when green.

Green olives are grown in Spain—nowhere else. The world's production of green olives is grown on a piece of land only thirty-odd miles square. This is the only place on earth where olives will grow to a suitable size and flavor for eating before they ripen.

Green olives are, and always have been, wholesome and nutritious besides being the finest of appetizers.

The green olive is not a new fruit. It has been eaten for centuries.

When you buy olives, be sure to say to your grocer, "I want a bottle of green olives." Incidentally, green olives are always packed in glass—never in tin.

CORONER HOLDS DRIVER OF TRUCK FOR FATAL CRASH

Carelessness Charge Against Charles Scheufler, 21 —
Man Was Killed in Downtown Collision.

A Coroner's jury today returned a verdict holding Charles Scheufler, 21 years old, of 3521 North Tenth street, for criminal carelessness, growing out of a collision between an automobile truck driven by Scheufler, and a Page car at Broadway and Washington avenue, in which Christie Verdon of 3521 North Eleventh street was killed.

Witnesses testified Verdon was one of a party of picnickers who were passengers in the truck, returning from an outing, Sunday evening. Scheufler attempted to turn west into Washington avenue, ahead of an oncoming westbound street car, which struck and overturned the truck. All of the seven occupants of the truck were injured, and Verdon died shortly after reaching the city hospital.

Negro Is Killed by Auto While Crossing Street.
Thomas Jones, 52 years old, a negro, of 2625 Baldwin avenue, was killed when struck as he was crossing Grand boulevard at St. Louis avenue at 5:40 p. m. yesterday by an automobile driven by Henry Bauer, 44, of 4227 North Eleventh street.

Jones' death was the ninety-ninth motor-vehicle fatality of the year here, 50 more than in the corresponding period in 1923, which was a record year for such fatalities.

Woman Driver Flees After Colliding With Wagon.
Police are searching for the woman driver of a Chevrolet coupe who failed to stop after a automobile collision at Garrison avenue and Magazine street yesterday with a horse-drawn wagon driven by Mrs. Sophie Long, 72 years old, a widow, of 5123 Jennings road, St. Louis County. Mrs. Long, who was thrown beneath the horse's feet, suffered a fractured left leg and possible internal injuries.

DECREE FOR MRS. LEHMANN

Department Store Owner Must Pay Wife $650 a Month.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Superior Judge Sabath indicated today that he would grant a divorce to Mrs. Dorothy Ellsworth Blesse Lehmann from Otto Lehmann, one of the owners of the Fair Department Store. She is the second Mrs. Lehmann, the first having been Mrs. Cassie Lehman of New York, who was first married to and divorced from Lehmann's brother, Ernest. The second Mrs. Lehmann also was previously divorced, having been the wife of Dr. Fred W. Blesse, and as a singer was said to have aided Dr. Blesse to obtain his medical education.

Besides her divorce on grounds of cruelty, alimony of $650 a month will be awarded Mrs. Lehmann unless she re-marries with a lump sum not disclosed. The first Mrs. Lehmann recently waged a fight for $1200 a month for the support and education of her daughter.

PAY-ROLL TOTALS DECLINE

Labor Department Figures Indicate Industrial Slump.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Decline of 4 per cent in industrial employment and per capita earnings of 7.3 per cent in pay roll totals were reported today by the Labor Department, on the basis of July figures from 274 establishments in 52 lines of manufacture. The plants reporting had 2,489,374 employees on their pay rolls in one week last month, with wages totaling $60,528,285, as compared with 2,592,712 employees and total earnings of $65,641,420 for the corresponding period in June. The decline was attributed largely to the industrial seasonal slump.

Employees From Clerks to Scullery Maids, Get Legacy Checks.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—In the stately precincts of the Waldorf-Astoria, often trod by kings, princes and great ones of the earth, a fairy tale has assumed reality. The characters were clerks, bellhops, scullery maids, waiters and checkers. One by one they passed before John Killackey, the cashier and received checks of from $200 to $500, legacies left them by a fellow-worker, Arthur Fowler, clerk and messenger of the Waldorf drug store.

Recount Does Not Change Result.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 26.—The result of the recount in the race for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff of Boone County was announced here last night. The recount did not change the status of the candidates, except to give Roy Creed, the nominee, a plurality of 16, instead of 15, as was announced by the Canvassing Board after the election. The recount was asked for by Wilson Hall, who was second.

CITY COMMITTEES OF THREE PARTIES CHOOSE OFFICERS

Becker and Mestres Re-Elected as Chairmen of Republican and Democratic Organizations.

M'DONALD NAMED TO HEAD LIBERALS

Body Will Conduct La Follette Campaign Here—Women Are Represented on "50-50" Basis.

Chairmen of the Republican and Democratic City committees were re-elected without opposition at organization meetings yesterday and Charles A. MacDonald of the Fifteenth Ward, was unanimously made chairman of the City Committee of the new Liberal party of Missouri, which is conducting the La Follette-Wheeler campaign in Missouri.

Women were admitted to full membership in city committees yesterday for the first time, the "50-50" election law, enacted by the last Legislature, providing that political committees shall be composed of an equal number of men and women and that the offices also shall be equally divided.

County and city committees throughout the State were organized yesterday, the law specifying that such meetings be held on the third Tuesday in August. Congressional committees will organize organization meetings in the three St. Louis and St. Louis County districts have not been determined.

Officers Elected by Democratic City Committee.

Officers elected by the Democratic City Committee are: Joseph J. Mestres, Seventh Ward, chairman; Mrs. R. E. Oldfather, Twenty-eighth Ward, vice chairman; Miss Ann Carney, Fifth Ward, secretary; State Senator Joseph Brogan, Thirtieth Ward, treasurer, and Henry Streuter, Ninth Ward, sergeant-at-arms. None had opposition.

William P. ("Dinty") Colbeck, political leader of the Egan gang, who was re-elected Fifth Ward Democratic Committeeman on August 1, was not a candidate for re-election as sergeant-at-arms, a post he had held for a number of years. As is known, he was arrested last week and released on $50,000 bond, under a Federal indictment charging him with aiding and abetting in the concealment of the loot of the daring robbery of an armored mail truck at Fourth and Locust streets, April 2, 1935, in which more than $250,000 in negotiable securities was stolen.

Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, Democratic nominee for Governor, made a brief talk before the committee. He avoided campaign issues, but urged party harmony. "The primary is over," he asserted. "We've had our differences and supported our candidates, as we had a right to do. Now there is no reason why we can't stand shoulder to shoulder and come through the campaign victorious from John W. Davis on down."

"Now, my friends, I'm in your hands. I'm going to do your bidding. I want you to consider me your party leader. There are no sore spots in me. I have always been a Democrat and I have always supported the entire ticket and assisted financially in campaigns as much as I was able, stories to the contrary notwithstanding."

Nelson had the support of only one Democratic Committeeman here in the primary race. He was Lawrence P. Daley of the Seventeenth Ward.

A resolution endorsing the Democratic national platform and the national ticket was adopted by the committee.

Becker Named Chairman of Republican City Committee.

Officers elected by the Republican City Committee were: Louis J. Becker, Twenty-seventh Ward, chairman; Miss Lenore Kamer, Seventeenth Ward, vice chairman; Mrs. C. T. Blesse, Twentieth Ward, secretary; Martin Scherer, Tenth Ward, treasurer, and Louis ("Dub") Becker, Eighth Ward, not a relative of the chairman, sergeant-at-arms.

Miss Kamer was opposed by Miss Clara Smith, Fourteenth Ward, and Mrs. William T. Nardin, Twenty-eighth Ward. The vote went Miss Kamer, 23; Miss Smith, 18; Mrs. Nardin, 2. Mrs. Nardin was a favorite with members of the Republican Women's Club. Miss Kamer's candidacy was sponsored by Frank Glaser, Seventeenth Ward committeeman.

Mrs. Blesse was opposed by Mrs. M. E. Rudolph, Twenty-sixth Ward, the vote being 23 for Mrs. Blesse and 23 for Mrs. Rudolph.

"Dub" Becker began his thirty-second year as sergeant-at-arms of the committee with his re-election.

In that time he also has held the post of sergeant-at-arms in many district and State conventions and several national conventions.

To Revise By-Laws.

The Republican committee appointed a committee to revise by-laws so that women may have equal representation on standing committees. The revisions will be reported at a special meeting next Wednesday night at which Sam A. Baker, nominee for Governor, is scheduled to speak.

By a coincidence, Baker also had the primary support of only one St. Louis committeeman, Fred C. Delporte, of the Fifteenth Ward.

Six negro members of the Republican Committee, five women and a man, participated in yesterday's meeting. It was the first time they have had representation on the committee. Negro organizations sent bouquets to several of them.

Chairman Becker announced that his standing committees probably would be announced at the regular committee meeting, the first Tuesday in September. Committeemen and committeewomen are expected immediately to set their organizations in motion for the general registration Sept. 22 to 25, both inclusive.

Miss Kamer, who is 23 years old and resides at 4167 West Pine boulevard, was one of five St. Louis women passing the State bar examinations last June and announced that it is her intention to specialize in criminal law. For three and a half years she has been a Deputy Circuit Clerk in the Court for Criminal Causes. Previously she worked at the Republican State headquarters in the Circuit Clerk's office in the old courthouse. She was the winner of a $100 beauty prize over a field of 21 entrants at the Electrical Exposition here last year.

Mrs. Oldfather has been head of the woman's division of the Democratic City Committee for four years, but previously had no official standing. She resides at the Hamilton Hotel.

Officers elected by the Liberal party City Committee are: Charles A. McDonald, Fifteenth Ward, chairman; Mrs. K. E. Nichols, Nineteenth Ward, vice chairman; A. P. Crook, Ninth Ward, secretary, and Mrs. Louise Custer, Ninth

Ward, treasurer.

The Liberal party meeting at headquarters, Title Guaranty Building, the committee organized, which Arthur Keot, editor of the Telegrapher's Magazine, the Republican and party nominees and were being supported by the press.

THEATER OPENINGS MAY BE DELAYED

Union Stage Hands and Musicians Here Conferring on New Wage Scale.

Local theater managers and representatives of the unions of stage hands and musicians are conferring today on union demands for increased wages that may involve delay in opening some of the local theaters this season. The conference does not apply particularly to motion picture theaters, most of which have signed new union contracts.

Word comes from New York that unless their demands are met by Labor Day, Sept. 2, about 4000 stage hands and musicians in 50 cities will go on strike.

Among the cities mentioned in news dispatches that may be affected by the strike are St. Louis, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Cincinnati, Syracuse, Rochester, Pittsburgh and Indianapolis, but local theater managers expect to reach a settlement satisfactory to all before the date of the threatened strike.

Stage hands are paid $50 to $65 a week, according to the managers, and are asking for a flat increase of 10 per cent. The musicians' scale, according to union officials, ranges from $35 to $45 a week, with an addition of $12 a week for matinee performances. The managers say the musicians are asking an increase of 25 per cent, which would make the average wage, with overtime, amount to $60 to $70 a week. Most of the musicians in the large motion picture houses are paid from $65 to $110 a week, and some others are paid as high as $150 a week.

Loew's new theater opens tomorrow with a crew of five stage hands working on the new union scale, and the Orpheum Theater will open Saturday night. E. J. Sullivan, manager, said the Orpheum would pay the new wage scale under protest, unless a settlement is made before Saturday.

A manager, who asked that his name be withheld, said the pivot of the situation is in Boston, where the managers of legitimate theaters and moving-picture houses have rejected the union demands and will operate with non-union stage hands and musicians after Sept. 1. A strike there may affect houses throughout the country on circuits affected in Boston. It is said, which probably would result in the calling of a strike in some places here.

A representative of the International Theatrical Mechanics' Association has been in St. Louis several days endeavoring to adjust the local situation, and it is believed an agreement will be reached here today or tomorrow.

JUDGE DEFENDS COURT GUARD

Protects Against Special Herring Deputies "Unwarranted."

By the Associated Press.
HERRIN, Ill., Aug. 20.—City Judge E. N. Bowen, when informed that protests had been made by residents of Williamson County, in messages sent to the office of Gov. Small, against the appearance in the city court here of special deputies appointed by Sheriff Galligan, declared the protests were "unwarranted," and that he anticipated trouble during the trials to be conducted here, growing out of raids by the Ku Klux Klan.

Bowen said the deputies were not heavily armed and that Sheriff Galligan had acted within his rights in ordering spectators at the trials searched for arms before entering the courtroom. Jurors are being selected in the case against Carl Nelson, Harry Walker and S. Glenn Young, Ku Klux Klan raiders, charged with robbery.

LABOR ATTACKS G. O. P. LEADER

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The American Federation of Labor, in a statement last night assailed Roy O. West, secretary of the Republican National Committee, for what it declared was his connection, through the Chicago law firm of West & Eckhardt, of which he is a member, with a recent labor injunction case.

"This firm represented the Western Union Telegraph Co. in an application for an injunction against five local unions, composed mostly of electrical workers," the statement says. "The writ asked for by West and Eckhardt was granted and the order now stands against the local unions which are on strike against the Western Union."

Speaking of the injunction, Frank Morrison, secretary of the Labor Federation, said: "It is purely another case of outright denial of lawful rights in which we find the secretary of the Republican National Committee living up to expectations in the interests of big business and against the interests and the rights of the workers."

DIES AFTER FALL OUT OF BED

Edward D. Preiss, 52 years old, died at city hospital today of skull fracture suffered yesterday apparently when he fell out of bed in his room at 2314 North Broadway.

Mrs. Kate Hart, who runs the rooming house at that address, told policemen who came with an ambulance that Preiss was brought home ill from a rolling mill, where he was employed, by two men who put him to bed. During the morning he fell off the bed three times and each time she put him back. On the last occasion, she found him lying beside a heating stove which was cracked apparently where his head had struck.

SAYS WEALTH IS NO BAR TO LIQUOR LAW PUNISHMENTS

Assistant Attorney-General's Report Cites Sentences in Hamtramck (Mich.) Cases.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—"That the rich and influential are receiving equal, and often heavier, punishment than the poor; for liquor violations," a Department of Justice statement today declared, "is pointed out by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt in a report to the Attorney-General."

Mrs. Willebrandt's report was a review of the sentences imposed on 47 persons in the Hamtramck (Mich.) conspiracy case, in which six of the defendants pleaded guilty and the others were convicted of perjury. The jail sentences aggregated 28 years and the fines $11,500.

"The rich," said Mrs. Willebrandt, "received heavier fines, and those who had sinned with their brains were in direer plight than those who sinned with their hands. Political power had no more effect than wealth. The twice-victorious Mayor of Hamtramck, with a large political following, received two years, while Henne, a worker around the breweries, with no influence, got only five months."

By the Associated Press.
EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 20.—
Having formally accepted the Republican nomination for the vice presidency, Charles G. Dawes entered actively into the party's national campaign today, with his departure for Maine to deliver an address Saturday at Augusta.

The Augusta address is the only one listed for Dawes on the trip undertaken today, and he will return to his home here early next week and then proceed to Lincoln, Neb., for another speech Aug. 23. His first stump tour will begin soon afterwards.

Formal notification of his selection as President Coolidge's running mate was given Dawes last night at ceremonies held on the lawn of his home here, with an audience declared by Republican leaders to have been one of the largest that ever gathered at any political meeting in the vicinity of Chicago.

The audience, extending in a almost solid mass from the Dawes home to Lake Michigan, 300 yards away, was composed of the leaders of the Republican party, of delegations from a number of Middle Western cities and towns, and of the neighbors of the nominee.

Assails La Follette Candidacy.
Speaking to this audience and indirectly to the country's voters, Dawes assailed the La Follette independent candidacy as "a mobilization of extreme radicalism," declared the real contest of the campaign to be between the "progressive conservatism" of the Republican party and the "unbridled and dangerous radicalism" of the La Follette movement, and defended the course of the Harding and Coolidge administrations in foreign affairs.

Although giving the credit to President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes, Dawes predicted that as a replacement of the reparations plan worked out under his direction, a mean peace and prosperity for Europe, and saving of the United States from inevitable agricultural and industrial depression.

The nominee, after defending the position of the Republican party as one of progressive conservatism and that of the La Follette candidate as one of extreme radicalism, declared the Democratic party stood in between, and, "instead of recruiting itself from the two best lines, will suffer only the fate which befalls those who try to meddle in a real fight."

"Elopes With Socialist Party,"
Dawes spoke in response to the formal notification address delivered by A. W. Jeffries, former representative from Nebraska, ex-chairman of the official Notification Committee, who likewise attacked "the man from Wisconsin whom he said had thrown off 'the pretense of Republicanism and had run away from the home where for 40 years he has been fed and sheltered, and has finally eloped with the Socialist party.'"

Contending that "a formidable attack has been launched on the fundamental principles of the Constitution," Dawes characterized the La Follette movement as the "chief opponent" of the Republican national ticket and said it considered adherence to the principal fundamentals of the Constitution the foremost issue in the November election.

This issue was stressed by the nominee, but he also discussed to other questions at equal length the League of Nations and the World Court.

Opposes Entrance Into League.
He announced his stand on the Republican platform, declared against any entrance into a league and assailed the Democratic position as "an invitation to enter that fog of debate, public referendum." He commended the proposal of the present administration for adherence to a permanent court of international justice, declaring "it is to our national interests and the interests of the world."

Discussing the London agreement on the reparations plan, he said:

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 20.—Having formally accepted the Republican nomination for the vice presidency, Charles G. Dawes entered actively into the party's national campaign today, with his departure for Maine to deliver an address Saturday at Augusta. The Augusta address is the only one listed for Dawes on the trip undertaken today, and he will return to his home here early next week, after a brief stop in Portland, Me., for another speech Aug. 29. His first stump tour will begin on August 30.

Formal notification of his selection as President Coolidge's running mate was given by Dawes last night at ceremonies held on the lawn of his home here, with audience declared by Republican leaders to have been one of the largest ever gathered for any political meeting in the vicinity of St. Louis.

The audience, extending in an oval solid mass from the Dawes home to Lake Michigan, 300 yards long, was composed of the leaders of the Republican party, of delegates from a number of Middle Western cities and towns, and of the neighbors of the nominee.

Annals La Follette Candidacy.

Speaking to this audience and directly to the country's voters, Dawes assailed the La Follette independent candidacy as "a mobilization of extreme radicalism," declared the real contest of the campaign to be between the "progressive conservatism" of the Republican party and the "unbridled and dangerous radicalism" of the La Follette movement, and defended the course of the Harding and Coolidge administrations in foreign affairs.

Although giving the credit to President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes, Dawes predicted that acceptance of the reparations plan worked out under his direction would mean peace and prosperity for Europe, and saving of the United States from inevitable agricultural and industrial depression.

The nominee, after defending the position of the Republican party and one of progressive conservatism and that of the La Follette candidacy as one of extreme radicalism, declared the Democratic party's position in between "instead of standing itself from the two battle lines, will suffer only the fate which befalls those who try to straddle a real fight."

"Range With Socialist Party."

Dawes spoke in response to the formal notification address delivered by A. W. Jeffries, former representative from Nebraska, and chairman of the national nominating committee, who likewise attacked "the man from Wisconsin," whom he said had thrown off "all the shackles of Republicanism and has run away from his home where for years he has been fed and sheltered, and has finally eloped with the Socialist party."

Continuing that "a formidable attack has been launched on the fundamental principles of the Constitution," Dawes characterized the La Follette movement as the "chief opponent" of the Republican party and said he considered adherence to the principles of the Constitution the foremost issue in the campaign.

The issue was stressed by the nominee, but he also discussed two other questions of national length—the League of Nations and the World Court.

Opposes Entrance Into League.

He announced his stand on the League of Nations platform declaration, which he said "entirely repudiates" the League and assailed the Democratic position as "an invitation to enter that fog of debate in the referendum." He commended the proposal of the present administration for adherence to the permanent court of international justice, declaring "it is to our national interests and the interests of the world."

Discussing the London agreement on the reparations plan, he said:

"The administration has reduced the cost of Governmental operation, and it was not an accident that this was firmly assuming executive control of the business organization of Government and by hard work—not by oratory. As a result, under our new tax law, approximately $4,000,000 per day less for national purposes, will be collected in 1925 from the taxpayers, than for the fiscal year of 1924, and our public debt has been reduced during the budget years, under this administration, in the sum of $2,722,396,331.49. In 1921, the last pre-budget year, of the cost of Government collected in tax, and state and municipal taxes, after debt payments, our Federal expenditures were 59 per cent and those of the states, cities and towns, 41 per cent, but in 1923 the Federal Government took only 28 per cent of the taxes, and 72 per cent was spent by the states, cities and towns."

These figures indicate that in the matter of economy and tax reduction, the Federal Government is headed in the right direction, and most of the states, cities and towns of our country in the wrong direction.

The administration, in lowering the enormous amount of Federal taxation, has lessened the drain from the pockets of the people and from the capital actively employed in productive industry.

President Coolidge, with far-sightedness and full knowledge of the facts and circumstances surrounding important decisions, endeavors to do the right and wise thing in the interests of the nation, untroubled by motives of political expediency. He courageously recommended the recognition of right principles in the tax reduction bill, and the most dangerous of unbridled and dangerous radicalism, which represents the unthinking that those who lightened the burden on their backs sought to betray them in the protection of the national government, braving temporary criticism and misrepresentation of right purpose, is always decorated with the eventual vindication of the country.

This subject of public economy, the subject of relief from taxation, and of an adequate tariff for the protection of our national prosperity, I will discuss upon other occasions. The non-partisan and economic agricultural question is a national question, and it is a question of national welfare, that it demands fuller consideration than is here possible. I shall discuss it in my speech at Lincoln, Neb., on August 29th.

I will therefore cover, however shortly, in this speech of acceptance, only three issues: one which I deem of the utmost importance and one which I deem of the utmost importance and one which I deem of the utmost importance.

It is in the heart and conscience of our people that great issues are defined, and politicians align on them, but have little to do with selecting them. A formidable attack has been launched on the fundamental principles of our Constitution, and elemental things like this must be fought out.

One party—the Republican party—the party of progressive conservatism, under the leadership of President Coolidge, has taken its stand firmly upon the Constitution of the United States and all know where it stands. Opposed to it, and in reality its chief opponent, though the result of the effort may be to deadlock the contest for the presidency and Snake Bryanism succeeded the Coolidge policy, is a movement of unbridled and dangerous radicalism. With a platform drawn by one man, designed to soften as much as possible the apprehensions of the people, what the movement really means, an attempt is made to induce those who are patriotic at heart but disconcerted with existing conditions, to join with the Socialists and other diverse elements opposing the existing order of things, in a mobilization of extreme radicalism. A man is known by the company he keeps.

In the words of the Associated Press of July 7, "The National Convention of the Socialist Party of America formally enrolled under the La Follette banner." What is this banner which confronts the flag of the United States, upheld by President Coolidge and his platform? In answer, I quote from the same dispatch of the Associated Press, from a telegram sent by Eugene V. Debs, reading in part: "I think it wise for our party to make no nominations under the circumstances, but at the same time to hold the Socialist party intact, adhere rigidly to its principles and keep the red flag flying." Says the Associated Press further: "The Debs sentiment echoed the opinions expressed in the debate by such party leaders as Morris Hillquit of New York, Representative Victor Berger of Wisconsin, and Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee." Here is the battle alignment and here are the flags.

Lying between these two armies of progressive conservatism and of radicalism, which are properly aligned upon this issue, is our minds and consciences of the American people, is interposed the Democratic party, with one conservative and one radical candidate on its ticket, hoping to get votes by avoiding the issue.

In this situation, for which the American people alone are responsible, the Democratic party, as a party, instead of recruiting itself from the two battle lines, will suffer only the fate which befalls those who try to straddle in a real fight.

We are face to face with an abnormal condition in this country, existing because of lack of respect for law, caused in part by wide-spread demagoguery in legislative bodies, in part by the weakness of many of those commissioned to execute the law, and in part by the existence and activities of aggressive minority organizations behind selfish purposes.

Attacking the La Follette movement with the vigor and fire that were through the post-war investigations and the inauguration of the budget system, Dawes described the country's new political

TEXT OF LA WES' ADDRESS OF ACCEPTANCE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 20.—The text of the speech of acceptance delivered here last night by Charles G. Dawes on the formal notification of his nomination as the Republican candidate for the vice presidency follows:

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I ACCEPT the nomination of the Republican party for the office of Vice-President, of which you now formally notify me.

The formal notification of the candidates of the political parties has established the custom of discussion by them of the issues of the campaign.

This campaign is a campaign of domestic issues, and in the campaign I shall try to discuss them fully, but I cannot cover them all in one speech and say what I want to say. Political issues in the United States have become too serious to trifle with, and its citizens realize it. The discussion of facts and truth is demanded, and that takes time. This is a campaign of brass-tacks—not bombast.

This administration has reduced the cost of Governmental operation, and it was not an accident that this was firmly assuming executive control of the business organization of Government and by hard work—not by oratory. As a result, under our new tax law, approximately $4,000,000 per day less for national purposes, will be collected in 1925 from the taxpayers, than for the fiscal year of 1924, and our public debt has been reduced during the budget years, under this administration, in the sum of $2,722,396,331.49. Our nation is asked to leave important constitutional matters to be decided by the League of Nations, in its own interests and the interests of the world. If it is to play its part and preserve its independence, it must do so outside of membership in the League of Nations.

The position taken by the Democratic platform upon the League of Nations is an invitation to again enter that fog of debate in a public referendum, for which there exists neither law nor procedure, which means that the program of the present administration of constructive action for the United States in foreign relations, become paralyzed in a time of crisis in the world's affairs, when action rather than debate is demanded in the interests of all civilization.

The Republican platform is right in assuming that the United States, in its own interests and the interests of the world, must do so outside of membership in the League of Nations.

voices under false pretenses, and he feels that the desire of politicians to get votes in this way is endangering the fundamentals of this great republic.

As the enemies of the League of Nations, the fact that there was a just doubt as to this stamped the plan as one which could not be accepted by the citizens of the United States.

Our people, by an enormous majority in 1920, fearing entanglement in foreign difficulties, properly decided that they would not trust their future to a document involving a question so momentous, which needed a lawyer's explanation to be read with the instrument itself. And that mandate of the people, so clearly and forcibly expressed, must be respected and obeyed.

Perhaps if those who drew the League of Nations plan had felt it incumbent upon them to make its exact meaning as clear to the average man as to those who drew it, the United States might have been spared immersion for five years in the immense fog bank of the debate upon the League of Nations. But they did not do so.

In mind, and taking things as they were, the present administration, under President Harding and President Coolidge, entered upon a constructive policy for the United States in its international relations, which is giving our nation its place of leadership in the betterment of the world.

The four-part naval treaty was the first great accomplishment of this policy, insuring peace upon the Pacific, reducing the burdens of taxation upon the people by stopping competitive increases in navies, and creating a precedent for dealing with the question of international disarmament in the future.

Defends Unofficial Role in Europe.

It was in pursuance of this constructive foreign policy also, when the allies resolved to summon an expert committee—a course which Secretary Hughes had long before recommended—to prepare a plan which might form a basis for the settlement of the reparations problem, that President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes, approved the invitation of the allies to Americans to assist in the work. They not only approved this call of the allies from distressed Europe, that Americans assist in the time of great crisis, but gave specific advice as to the men to be invited, thus giving them, in the eyes of Europe, as they had in fact, the backing of the Stars and Stripes and the American people.

Our opponents have referred to this as an act of cowardice, to this what they say is an act of cowardice. If the work of that mission was not now recognized as having been done with assistance, or if the experts' plan and signed failed to offer any ground of agreement for a new peace in the world, if indeed, President Hughes would have been denounced as men who had humiliated their country instead of endeavoring to put it in its proper and helpful place with the fearlessness which should adorn strength and the Christian purpose which should glorify it. If the President and the Secretary of State had evaded this duty and precipitated the question of official representation for debate, delay, and non-action, in the United States Senate, the United States would have had no part in the last desperate but successful effort to find a common ground of agreement for a new peace in the world, if indeed, but for their action, there would have been any agreement at all.

Had it not been for this attitude of President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes toward the Expert Committee, Europe might not today be facing away from the chaos and hatred of war. With the experts' plan inaugurated, France, England, Germany, Italy, Belgium, and all Europe turn toward a new and peaceful life, with hope and happiness, rather than despair in their hearts and prosperity ahead. The United States must be saved from the depths of an inevitable and great depression in industry and agriculture, which the continued chaos and misery of Europe would entail. Indeed, the whole world enters upon a period of peace and prosperity.

Under President Harding and President Coolidge, again, in pursuance of this constructive foreign policy, there has been urged upon the nation membership in the World Court. What a confused mass of argument, pro and con, as to our entrance into the World Court has been created, not only by the political demagogues but by some profoundly wise men! What, again, are the fundamental propositions which will determine the eventual public sentiment in the matter of our adherence to the World Court? As I said before, the people have in their minds principally two things in regard to our foreign policy: first, they do not want any impairment of the right of sovereignty of the United States or its right to make a decision as to its own interests; by itself, and second, with that settled, they want the United States to do its duty in its international relations.

But in the propositions of President Coolidge in connection with the World Court, there is safeguarded the sovereignty of the United States and its interests.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Gen. Charles G. Dawes' speech of acceptance awakens here among Republicans even more enthusiasm than the address of President Coolidge—not because he expounds the issues any more skillfully, but because he takes an aggressive position. And politicians like the first of an attack.

It was the Republican vice-presidential nominee's attack on La Follette and radicalism, however, which made it inspiring to the Republicans. Whatever misgivings there may have been immediately after the Cleveland convention, when Dawes was nominated over the protests of friends of President Coolidge, who feared the effect of Gen. Dawes' anti-union labor utterances, there is no doubt now that since La Follette has entered the race and La Follette has endorsed La Follette the Republicans are more than glad of a champion of the Dawes type, who appeals to the conservative business interests of the country.

Appeal to Conservatives.

The whole Republican strategy now is to gather Democratic and Republican conservatives under the Coolidge-Dawes banner without making any effort particularly to coax the radicals into line. There are more conservatives if the combined Republican and Democratic strength is measured than there are radicals, especially in the case of the Dawes type. Dawes concedes that John W. Davis is safe and sound, but argues that the three-cornered fight may decide the contest and make Gov. Bryan President. Democrats will use the same argument, no doubt, to convince labor that by voting for La Follette they are throwing their votes away.

But as an example of Republican doctrine which fits in with the desires of conservatives who think the only way to kill La Follette and radicalism is to knock it into the head by strong utterances, the speech of General Dawes is the first gun in what may be expected to be a vigorous offensive on his part all through the campaign. He is not the usual kind of vice-presidential candidate. His speeches will draw crowds and will be read. So while the silent Calvin Coolidge will conduct the dignified campaign of a President seeking continuance in power, the vice-presidential nominee will be engaged in the "rough and tumble" game of politics and hit hard. His speech of acceptance was along that line. He called Senator La Follette by name and condemned his program unequivocally. From now on there will be no quarter.

Answer to Criticism.

Gen. Dawes, moreover, is to be the animated answer to the criticism that the Republicans have done nothing on foreign policy. Every day's news dispatches tell of the operation of what has been called the Dawes plan. If Europe begins an era of recovery and prosperity is reflected back to America, the Republicans will keep on talking about the Dawes plan. The speech of the vice-presidential candidate contains no new promises of constructive legislation but argues that the policy of La Follette is unsafe and unsound and that the surest way to avoid it is to stick to the conservative bandwagon with a ticket that is conservative at both ends. The suggestion of Gen. Dawes that the Democrats are "straddling" between the two extremes is a keynote in itself. It is what the Republican managers will try to accomplish in the campaign—they want the public to have the impression that the fight is between radicalism and conservatism of a common sense sort and that there is no middle ground.

The speech of John W. Davis at Columbus next week is looked forward to now as the next development in the campaign, for in it a doubt there will be an answer to the questions raised by Gen. Dawes.

One enthusiastic admirer arrived by boat on which he had loaded a circus calliope to entertain the crowd, and supplement the musical efforts of the chorus of the Hamilton Club of Chicago.

Members of the official notification committee of the National Committee of Congress and other Republican leaders were the guests of General and Mrs. Dawes at dinner. Among them were "Uncle Joe" Cannon, Brigadier-General Charles E. Sawyer, former White House physician, and Mrs. Sawyer. "Uncle Joe" received a royal welcome from the candidates and expressed his pleasure at "being at one of the party's notification ceremonies."

Seated just back of the speaker's stand were Gen. Dawes' three brothers, Rufus C., who was chief of staff of the experts for the American section of the Reparations Commission's experts committee; Benjamin G. of Columbus, O., and Henry M. of Chicago.

W. W. Mills, president of Marietta College, and uncle of the candidate, also was among the guests. Harold Marsh Sewall of Bath, Me., was present to represent Maine and will accompany the nominee on his trip to Augusta and be his host there during the two days Dawes plans to spend in that city. With the arrival of dusk, the colored lights were turned on and fireworks were set off along the

JAMES EADS HOW AND HIS SECRETARY WED

"Millionaire Hobo," 55, and Employee, 29, Married in Chicago.

James Eads How, long known as the "millionaire hobo," has given his many friends on the seamy side of life a new topic of conversation. He has married unexpectedly. The bride was Miss Ingeborg Sorson, who for a number of years has been associated with him as secretary in his work for hoboes, which took them all over the country for lectures and other activities.

The ceremony was performed yesterday in Chicago at the home of an aunt of Mrs. How, by the Rev. John Tucker, a militant socialist and former distributor of How's bounty. Mrs. How gave her age as 29 and the groom said he was 55.

Associates of How at the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, Thirteenth and Pine streets, in which he is active, were unaware of his matrimonial intentions. He was here last Monday and, leaving, announced to his attorney, former Circuit Judge Jesse McDonald, that he was going to be married. However, McDonald was appalled at the wedding in a telegram.

A Chicago dispatch today stated that Mr. and Mrs. How are on a honeymoon in the East and expect to make their home in Los Angeles. The wedding in a telegram.

How's friends think it will be a radical departure for him if he "goes out" in any city. St. Louis has always been his home, speaking generally, but in reality he is at home wherever he may toss his battered hat and peer kindly through spectacles at members of the great unwashed whose cause he champions. Here and elsewhere he has been wont to find lodging often in the grimmest "flop houses." He once explained that he was trying to work out the problem of the unemployed and the migratory by living with the problem itself.

"Millionaire hobo" is a misnomer, for How's worldly goods, it is reliably stated, nowhere approach a count of seven figures, though he has plenty to live on comfortably if he did not insist on sharing his income with the unfortunate. He inherited several hundred thousand dollars from his parents, his father having been an officer of the Washburn Railway and his mother a daughter of Capt. James B. Eads, builder of Eads Bridge. He prospered against inherited wealth, but found he could use it in his work. His reluctance to benefit from his money himself is almost ascetic. Although his associates by preference are hoboes, his name is in the "Social Register."

The true hobo is insistent in explaining his status. He is neither tramp, I. W. W. nor "bum," rather, he is joyfully afflicted with socialistic wanderlust. For this class How strives. Sometimes the hoboes have objected to him because of his money, unwilling to believe he is really one of them. Results of How's work are not easy to point out, in view of the floating of the subjects.

Established "Hobo Colleges." Establishment of "hobo colleges" has been his hobby. Commercial law, journalism, hygiene, mathematics—these are some of the things he has had taught to the wanderers in classes which were often slim. One of these institutions has been conducted from time to time at the I. W. W. hall here. How naturally is a foe of war. He was said to have been the only delegate from the United States to make his way to the international socialist conference in Stockholm in 1917, which sought to end the World War. In 1912 he made a long trip to Europe to study conditions at a cost of about $200.

How was educated at Harvard. In 1910, after studying at the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, he was licensed as a physician and is known to some as Dr. How. Of late years he has been active in the fight against unemployment pension measures, which would have been put on the ballot at next November's election if initiative petitions for them had borne enough signatures.

Dies When Speaking. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 26.—Mrs. Margaret A. Lovan, for 45 years a teacher in the public schools here, fell dead late yesterday when addressing a meeting of the Aid Society of the First Baptist Church. She was a daughter of the Rev. Mr. Mitchell, pastor of the Fourth Baptist Church in St. Louis before the Civil War, and was baptized by her father in that church in 1858.

B. N. Oxbard Dies in Savannah. By the Associated Press. SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 29.—B. N. Oxbard, 68, president of the National Sugar Refinery, died at his residence here yesterday. He had been ill a long time. He was a native of New Orleans and had lived in Savannah since 1918. The funeral will be held tomorrow. He is survived by his widow and two sons.

Has Record of Ice in August. The St. Louis weather observer has declared this the coolest summer in 51 years, which is as far back as the Federal weather bureau goes. LUCY PAGE GASTON, Foe OF CIGARETTE, IS DEAD

Succumbs in Hospital Near Chicago After Several Weeks' Illness.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Miss Lucy Page Gaston, founder of the National Anti-Cigarette League, died today in a Hinsdale hospital.

Miss Gaston, 64 years old, had been suffering for several weeks from a cancerous growth on the left side of her neck, which, according to her physician, was the result of an injury to her in a street car accident Jan. 29, last. More than 10 years ago Miss Gaston conducted a clinic in Chicago for those who wanted to be cured of the cigarette habit and said more women than men applied for treatment.

She was born in 1860 at Delaware, O., and her career as a reformer began while she was attending the Illinois State Normal School. Her parents had removed from Ohio to Lacon, Ill. During her career she had led raids on saloons, gambling resorts and cigarette establishments.

FASHION PAGEANT WILL BE BROUGHT TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Receipts Expected to Exceed $80,000—Other Cities Are Seeking Production.

The St. Louis Fashion Pageant will conclude its 12 nights' showing at the Municipal Theater tonight. Announcement was made today that the receipts to date, including the advance sale and the subscription of merchants and manufacturers, amount to $77,429.29. With tonight's concluding performance, it is estimated 100,000 persons will have viewed the spectacle. Inquiries have been received from several other cities to obtain the local production, in part or entirely. Detroit, particularly, has made a strong bid, being desirous of obtaining the entire production, with the exception of styles and models, for appearance in that city next month. Indianapolis wants to stage a certain part of the show, and similar inquiries have been received from Wichita and Hutchinson, Kan.

BROWN CAB CO. BUYS YELLOW FOR $100,000

Company Will Have Largest Fleet of Machines West of the Mississippi.

William J. Brown, president of the Brown Cab Co., 4619 Delmar boulevard, today announced the completion of arrangements whereby he has purchased for his company the Yellow Motor Car Co. of St. Louis and its fleet of 37 Yellow taxicabs, for $100,000.

The transfer, effective Sept. 1, will give the Brown company 251 cars, one of the largest taxicab fleets west of the Mississippi River. Nine years ago Brown and J. H. Cathcart, now secretary-treasurer of the Brown company, with a shoestring capital, began a service car business with three Ford touring cars, running from a shed behind 5244 Cote Brillante avenue. Today their competitors are estimated as having but a few more than 50 taxicabs in all.

Cabs to Remain Yellow. The Yellow cabs will not be painted brown, as were the 29 Black and White cabs, which the Brown company took over in June. They will continue to operate as Yellow cabs, because of the demand of transients, and Brown proposes to increase the fleet by a number of Yellow cabs as the demand warrants, keeping a detailed record of the business done by each car.

The Brown Cab Co. was incorporated in 1919 when Brown and Cathcart had 13 meter cabs. They held the bulk of the stock, the balance being divided among relatives. The Yellow Motor Car Co. was owned by St. Louis men with L. Wade Childress as the principal stockholder. He was president of the company until last year when he resigned and turned the operation of the business over to A. F. Versen, as president and manager. Brown ascribes the success of his company to its policy of operating "cheap cars." When he started in business, taxicabs were ornate, luxurious things at luxurious prices. We bought sturdy, low-priced machines and cut prices, on the assumption that with lower priced more people would ride. We were right.

Gottlob W. Kluegel, Head of Furniture Co., Began Here With Small Cabinet Shop. Gottlob W. Kluegel, president of the Kluegel Furniture Co., 2612-14 South Jefferson avenue, is today observing the fiftieth anniversary of his start in business here. As a young man of 27, Kluegel began the operation of a small cabinet shop at 2523 South Broadway, then Carondelet avenue, in partnership with the late Gottlieb J. Popplitz on Aug. 29, 1874. He had then been a chauffeur's strike which ended last spring after more than a year of difficulty. The yellow company fought the strike alone with non-union drivers, while Brown and Cathcart, both union drivers themselves, supported the union in its demands. With the settlement of the strike, business picked up, and the Brown company, by an extensive advertising campaign, got a large share of this trade.

The firm specialized in the manufacture of elevator cars and store fixtures, but in 1880 moved to 2618 South Broadway and branched out in the retail furniture business. Six years later business had so grown that the firm erected its own building at South Broadway and Victor street. A branch store was opened at 2714 Grand avenue in 1894. Henry C. Kirchhoff having meantime become a partner in the firm. The branch continued under Kluegel's management until the firm and opened his present establishment on South Jefferson avenue.

ST. LOUIS QUARTET TO SING AT BENEFIT

Police Band to Give Concert for Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund.

The St. Louis Quartette will sing a cycle of popular songs as one number on the program of the St. Louis Police Band concert at the Orpheum Theater next Saturday evening for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund. The quartette is one of the best-known of local musical organizations, having been organized nearly 12 years ago. The members spent seven months overseas during the World War and their melody has entertained thousands of St. Louisans during their frequent appearances at conventions, banquets and other local civic and charitable affairs.

For a number of years they have been enthusiastic workers for the Ice Fund, donating their time and talents whenever the need for their services arose. They participated in the Big Brothers' Minstrel at the Orpheum Theater last year, and their appearance on Saturday evening will be one of the features of the concert sponsored by the Police Band. Charles Fesch, tenor; Chester Mertens, tenor; James W. Porteous, baritone, and Robert X. Stark, bass, with D. D. Lowmiller, accompanist, are the members of the quartette.

Another diverting feature on the bill, which will be presented in regular Orpheum fashion, will be the appearance of the Moran Sisters, dancers. Gladys and Jane Moran, daughters of James J. Moran, 4905 Lotus avenue, have spent several seasons on the B. F. Keith and Orpheum circuits, and their share of the show will be an artistic as well as entertaining dance number.

Harry Graham, local manager of the Police Band, has donated an opening and closing reel for the performance. Tickets for the affair are on sale at regular theater prices at the Orpheum box office.

JOE AND ASBESTOS—Nothing Can Keep Asbestos From Playing Those Oat Chewers—By Ken Kling

WRAY'S COLUMN

France's Lone Hand.
BETTING that the French thoroughbred champion, Epineard, does not win all three international races has been cut from 100 to 1 to 50 to 1, not because the shorter price represents the proper odds, but because the wager is a popular one. It calls for a slight investment only, with potentially great winnings. Backers make such a wager as they might invest in a lottery ticket—hoping, but not expecting.

THE UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENT—CHAPTER 21.

"MY dear child," cooed Mrs. Boice-Nevins, refolding Hollister's farewell letter, "why didn't you show me this at once, instead of frightening me out of my wits? Heaven knows my heart isn't strong any more after the terrific shocks I've had in the last months!"

Marjorie made a helpless gesture.

"What good does it do? It's only his way of making me feel as small, as cheap, as worm-like as possible. Of course, I deserve it, we all deserve it. But at least I'm going to have the satisfaction of throwing his generosity in his face."

Flags of anger flew again in the Dresden china face. Mrs. Boice-Nevins leaned forward, her eyes mere glittering slits.

"You'll do nothing so imbecile! Don't be a fool twice in one week. You'll accept that offer and bind the acceptance with a lawyer on both sides. . . . Why, don't you see, you ridiculous, quixotic youngster, this fixes us for life? Reed gives you Soundview and its upkeep and a generous allowance besides. We can keep up our present mode of living, send Dan to college, and have a large residue."

She leaned back, lit a cigarette, blew out the match daintily.

"What a fool for luck you are," she murmured with satisfaction.

"You can't mean what you're saying, mother. You haven't a little pride that you'd accept Reed Hollister's charity?"

Mrs. Boice-Nevins shrugged her white shoulders.

"Once I may have had pride. Yes, I rather think I did. But now I've no scruples against taking anything I can get from a man. They're faithless brutes, fearfully selfish—look at your father, failing the way he did, dooming us to penury, if I hadn't had the wit to provide you with a wealthy husband. Your father did nothing to help us out, after the fiasco. It was all I could do to get him away to South America where he, at least, wouldn't be around to disgrace us and remind everybody of our misfortune."

Marjorie said nothing. She was staring at her mother curiously, as if seeing her for the first time.

"We'll see Reed's attorney first thing tomorrow," Mrs. Boice-Nevins went on briskly, "and get everything settled. Then we'll have a regular shopping orgy. I haven't a rag. I was too busy seeing to your trousseau to buy myself anything," she smiled upon her daughter, benignly. "Ah, my dear, mother love is a wonderful thing!"

"Please don't!" Marjorie rose to her feet with gesture of distaste. "I loathe hypocrisy."

"How impudent! I—"

"Listen, mother," Marjorie went on desperately, standing appealing before her. "I can't accept Reed Hollister's offer, even if you want to. I am going to let him divorce me for desertion and, in the meantime, I'm going to work."

Mrs. Boice-Nevins smiled satirically.

"Ah what, my dear?"

Marjorie shrugged.

"There must be something I can do."

"Of course," her mother agreed pleasantly. "You might even earn $10 a week as a shop girl. That would help us a great deal, wouldn't it? I want you to wait a moment."

She gathered up her wrap and left the room. In a few minutes she was back, bearing a large wicker basket in her arms. It was overflowing with letters.

"Do you know what these are?" she inquired.

"Letters of condolence, I suppose," Marjorie gave a wry smile.

"Bills," Mrs. Boice-Nevins informed her grimly. "Bills for your trousseau, for the wedding breakfast, the flowers, the music, the extra servants. Bills for the household expenses of the last two months since your father failed. Bills for the frocks we purchased for our fortnight with the Thorburns. They represent more thousands of dollars owed to our creditors than you'd ever believe. I haven't stinted. I've been depending on you. I didn't know I'd reared and cherished a fool," she ended bitterly.

She flung the basket on the floor at Marjorie's feet and the great mass of letters slithered out across the rug like a serpent. Marjorie, looking at them, shuddered.

"How," queried Mrs. Boice-Nevins smoothly, "do you propose to pay those outstanding debts and support me and yourself on $10 a week?"

Marjorie made no reply. She was staring down at the accusing array before her. To her vivid

GOT A MINUTE TO SPARE?

By Wm. A. McKeever

YOU, as an average adult, are awake sixteen hours and forty minutes per day; that is 1,008 minutes. Now, I am asking you to give one of these thousand minutes to some little attention to a child. There are a thousand good ways in which you can render this assistance.

Spend a minute trying to learn how to get acquainted with a timid child.

Give yourself a happy minute trying to find out why the friendship between a small boy and his dog is so close.

Let another minute go by while you try to discover by contact with him what entices the mind and stirs the emotion of a six-year-old.

Lose yourself for another sixty-seconds trying to reconcile a freckled, half-grown girl to what she painfully regards as a mar to her beauty.

Discover, if you can, within a minute's time what the twelve-year-old boy living near you really thinks of the men of your home neighborhood—including yourself.

Discern, if possible, and within an equal interval, just how that timid, 12-year-old girl really regards the women of your neighborhood—including the one nearest you.

In the space of another minute find out if the boys of your neighborhood know which boy is boss of all the others in a fight with their fists and how this champion is regarded by the gang.

Spare another 60 seconds for discovering just which half-grown girl of your neighborhood is looked upon by the others as their leader, why she is such and how she exerts her influence over them.

Stop at the playground for a minute and observe, if you can, just what children are engaged in wholesome games and what ones are too awkward or too timid to play, lacking a bit of encouragement.

Use another of your valuable minutes trying your skill at teaching the children at the playground some joyful trick or game new to them, and perhaps significant for their learning as well as their pleasure.

Spend a minute listening in on a group of unrestrained high school lovers, and perhaps try your skill at winning their good will.

Some baby, some little boy or girl, some young scout, some bashful youth, some adolescent girl, some growing personality will surely arouse sufficient interest on your part to claim one minute per day, one thousandth part of your waking time.

MEDITATIONS—OF A—MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

IF THE TRUTH WERE TOLD.

FAITH is the sublime confidence a woman has in a man when she asks him to "be sweet" to her fascinating woman guest; the perfect trust which a man has in his own charms when he leaves his fiancée in the care of his best friend.

Alas, a woman can marry half a dozen times "for love"—and still not get it!

Nowadays a man seems to be going through life with his hand on his pulse and daring any girl to make him register a thrill.

No man, apparently, is ever responsible for the fluctuations of his own heart—before marriage a woman always "leads him on"; after marriage she always "drives him off."

To select exactly the kind of wife who would agree with his tastes, match his ideals and fit into his life and his ways would be too simple, easy and unexciting for any man. What he wants is always something he has to fight for before marriage and to fight with forever afterward.

No girl can appreciate the deep, sweet serenity of real love until she has suffered, at least once, from the vacillations and fluctuations of a woman-charmer's wavering heart.

When a husband suddenly stops complaining or disapproving a woman always wonders "what mischief he's up to now"—just as when a small boy is too quiet.

Off the screen it isn't so much a perfect profile as a perfect "line" that makes a perfect lover. One man can beg a kiss in a way to make a girl feel that he's playing a joke on her, and another can steal a kiss in a way to make her feel that he's conferring an honor upon her.

A man's "overtime" at the office is always hard work, but a woman's "overtime" around the house is just "a nice way to fill in her evenings."

Most girls fail at making a big career because when Opportunity knocked at the door, Love was always stealing in through the keyhole.

Copyright, 1924.

IT was formerly believed that the slightest wound, even the prick of a pin irritating the lining of the abdominal cavity, would cause death. Of course, this is a tender and sensitive portion of the anatomy.

Lining this cavity and forming a delicate covering for the intestines, is the peritoneum, as it is called. Inflammation of the peritoneal membrane is called "peritonitis." It is not uncommon to hear this disease spoken of as "inflammation of the bowels." This term is also used to designate the symptoms following inflammation of the lining membrane of the intestines.

Peritonitis is ushered in with a chill, or with acute pain in the abdomen, or with both chill and pain.

At first the pain may be confined to spots or to definite areas, but pretty soon the whole abdomen is involved. As the inflammation extends, the patient becomes so sensitive to touch that even the weight of the bed clothing is unbearable.

The victim lies on his back. His legs are drawn up to take pressure off the peritoneum. He avoids deep breaths because they hurt the tender tissues. Consequently the patient has quick, short and shallow respirations.

The pulse is rapid and usually there is considerable fever. It may reach 104 or 105 degrees. Vomiting is not uncommon.

In serious cases the patient feels cold. He has cold sweats and may go into collapse.

Fluid may accumulate in the abdomen. If it does, it interferes with the function of the various organs.

It is not common to have peritonitis as an independent disease. Almost always it is secondary to some other trouble. For instance, if there has been an ulcer of the stomach or of the intestine, it may break through the wall and set up inflammation in the peritoneal covering. This happens occasionally in typhoid fever. It may occur in abscess of the liver, kidneys, gall bladder or spleen and also it may happen in appendicitis.

Needless to say peritonitis is a serious condition to trifle with. The doctor must be called at once. He will seek out the underlying cause and attend to the primary trouble, as well as to the acute symptoms of the peritonitis itself.

Fresh eggs, plenty of green vegetables, fresh and stewed fruit. Drink two or three glasses of water between meals. Make sure that your bowels and kidneys eliminate properly. Avoid excessive use of tea, coffee and alcoholic stimulants. Exercise freely in the fresh air and practice deep breathing. Sleep as many hours as possible in a well-ventilated room. Avoid worry, fatigue and irregular habits.

LONDON.—The autumn brides are wearing their orange blossoms with a difference. Orange blossoms hold the veil in place, being arranged in a wreath around the head. And orange blossoms also form the girdle, which is placed low.

Paris.—Lingerie of very fine white linen is again in favor. Indeed, the ultra smart French women seldom favor lingerie of any other sort. But nowadays she permits it to be embroidered in cashmere shawl tones of faded blue and red and gold.

London.—Some of the young and slender are appearing today in the Pagoda hat. It is a logical result of the high crowns so popular now and—being made of inverted taffeta—ruffles—looks as much like a pagoda as necessary.

ESCALOPED BAKED BEANS, SPAGHETTI AND TOMATOES.

Two cups left-over cooked spaghetti.

1½ cups stewed tomato.

1-2 teaspoonful salt.

¼ teaspoonful pepper.

Browned bread crumbs.

Put a thin layer of spaghetti into a baking dish, next a layer of beans, then more spaghetti and so on until all have been used. Heat the tomato, add the seasonings (if convenient add a little minced green pepper or pimento) and pour this heated sauce over the spaghetti. Cover thickly with bread crumbs which have been browned in left-over bacon fat, bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven—350 degrees F.—and serve with an accompaniment of grated cheese.

During the vacation the girls usually become interested in doing fancy work and in sewing for their dollies. If this is done under mother's supervision it means efficiency to the girls. Many a home dressmaker and milliner get her start in just this way.

This period gives excellent opportunities for teaching girls household duties. Perhaps there are cards, postals and snapshots to be mounted or arranged in books. The children will be delighted to do this during vacation. There are many little tasks awaiting that convenient time and the boys and

Helps for the Mother

By Emilie Hoffman

A DISTRACTED mother is becoming the fact that "school vacations are so long." She says, "Most mothers are nervous wrecks when September comes and all the mothers I know will gladly sign a petition for the all-year-round school."

This mother has four children of school age—healthy, active children, just bubbling over with energy—and, of course, there must be some outlet for this.

If this exasperated mother, instead of lamenting the long vacation would set about to devise means for using up the excess energy of her children, the vacation would be more pleasant for the entire household.

In the first place a vacation from school work need not mean a vacation from all work. There are many household tasks that children can perform. The idea of helpfulness should be instilled into them, and they should be taught to share the work of the home in order to help mother in every possible way so she has a vacation, too.

During the vacation the girls usually become interested in doing fancy work and in sewing for their dollies. If this is done under mother's supervision it means efficiency to the girls. Many a home dressmaker and milliner get her start in just this way.

This period gives excellent opportunities for teaching girls household duties. Perhaps there are cards, postals and snapshots to be mounted or arranged in books. The children will be delighted to do this during vacation. There are many little tasks awaiting that convenient time and the boys and

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Optimists and Plain People

LONDON has a new club—brand-new. It is called the Optimist. If you belong to the Optimist you can't frown and you can't sulk and you can't grumble and you can't growl. Neither can you be cynical, and if you're sarcastic, it will cost you a shilling. If you're cross, you pay a fine of two shillings, and if you dare to say a word about the way the world is going to the dogs, it will cost you three shillings—and that's that.

I'd like to drop in there for luncheon some day and watch all the members working like dogs trying to be cheerful.

No, I shouldn't like to belong to the club. It's too much like business.

I always liked people who enjoy life—until somebody began to call them optimists, and since then I'm afraid they bore me to death.

No, I don't like a pessimist, either. Do you? I'll run a mile to get away from a doleful, gloomy, down-in-the-mouth, wish-I-was-dead and isn't-it-awful being!

"I told you so!" is the meanest phrase ever spoken, and the next to it, "What can you expect?"

I like a person who doesn't pretend to be a pessimist, but I don't like professional optimists very much better. Do you? Why can't people be natural and simple and honest, and stop coming about it?

WINIFRED BLACK

Come, Let's Be Ourselves!

I like a man who gets mad once in a while, not annoyed or vexed, just plain, old-fashioned, American mad.

I like a woman who has a spell of the blues every once in a while and doesn't pretend about it—if her blues don't last too long.

Why shouldn't we laugh and cry and sing and groan and get all there is out of life in every possible way?

Why go through the world in a mask and a suit of armor? When it's sunny, let's smile. When it's gloomy, let's gloom. And the first thing you know, we'll all be laughing together to think how ridiculous we are.

I know a woman with a voice like the wind wailing in the cypress. She'll tell you that her new hat didn't come in time for the mah-jongg party, and if she were speaking a foreign language that you didn't know, you'd swear that she was telling of the sudden death of the best friend she had on earth.

I know another woman whose voice sounds like a little mechanical toy, squeaking and cheerful, no matter what she says. I'm afraid she's a little bit more tiresome even than the wailer.

Summer has its glory.

Spring is a garden of beauty.

Autumn is a garden of beauty.

And Winter—what a regal old king of storm and bluster is he! How monotonous it would be to live forever in the drizzling rain! What a struggle we should have if we had to beat our breasts against the sleet and snow all the year round!

Spring itself would be tiresome if it lasted forever, and even glorious Summer can become monotonous when the grass is too green in the meadows and the bees have worked too steadily in the garden.

Drink Deep of Real Life

Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter, childhood, youth, maturity and age, peace, excitement, hope, fear, joy and sorrow—come let's stretch our eager hands and drink deep the full measure from the cup of life.

Let's be neither optimist nor pessimist but plain, loving, forgiving, laughing, weeping, understanding, human.

ODD and INTERESTING FACTS

The busiest spot in London, England, for traffic is Hyde Park Corner, where, on an average day, 56,000 vehicles pass between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Snow on some mountain tops never melts because the rarified air abstracts all the heat from surrounding objects.

A woman is said to have started the so-called "dime novels." Mrs. A. S. W. Stephens' story, "Malaska, the Indian Wife of the White Hunter," was published in paper form in 1850. This story, it is claimed, was responsible for the publisher, Beadle, opening the floodgates which released a continuous torrent of dime novels.

Abraham Lincoln read many dime novels. A favorite of his was "Maum Guinea," by Mrs. Metta V. F. Victor, and published by Beadle.

Buster Preserves His Self-Respect.

Who saves his self-respect saves much
And all the world admires such.

—Farmer Brown's Boy.

THERE was someone else in the Old Pasture so busy picking berries that he paid little attention to anything aside from his busy fingers. It was Farmer Brown's boy. He had filled one big pail with those delicious berries and was picking as fast as he could make his fingers go to fill another big pail. There were no leaves and no sticks and no green berries in those two pails. Farmer Brown's boy does not believe in doing work twice. Those berries would not have to be picked over when he reached home.

Now Farmer Brown's boy wasn't trying not to make any noise, but he made very little. He has learned to move quietly, and he does it without thinking. So it was that such sounds as he did make were very small sounds. The Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind had picked them up and carried them over to Buster Bear. With them they had carried the scent of Farmer Brown's boy. But Buster was too busy filling his stomach with berries to use ears or nose, and so he had no idea that Farmer Brown's boy was even in the Old Pasture.

Buster had stripped most of the berries from one big bush. He stood up and looked about with eager, greedy eyes. Not far off he saw another big bush loaded with big, ripe blueberries. Buster dropped down onto all four feet and began to break his way through the lower bushes and

Now, as I have said before, Buster's eyesight is not of the best. Perhaps if he had been less greedy he might have discovered something moving back of that big bush. He had just begun picking the berries on the farther side of that big bush. Of course, he heard Buster Bear coming. He peeped around the bush. There was Buster crashing through the smaller bushes straight for that bush.

Do you think Farmer Brown's boy ran? He didn't. He had seen Buster and the members of his family often enough to pretty thoroughly understand them. Farmer Brown's boy simply stood perfectly still. He wasn't afraid. He was filled with lively curiosity to see what Buster would do. He suspected that Buster would take to his heels as soon as he discovered that someone else was in that berry bush.

Buster came straight on with funny, little, eager whines. When he reached the bush he sat up and greedily reached for the nearest berries. It was then that he saw Farmer Brown's boy looking straight into his eyes from the other side of that bush. For a few seconds Buster was too surprised to move. He sat there and stared at Farmer Brown's boy with such a funny, startled look on his face that it was all Farmer Brown's boy could do to keep from laughing right out.

Farmer Brown's boy expected to see Buster turn and take to his heels as fast as he could go. That is what he had done when they had unexpectedly met in the Old Pasture once before long ago. But Buster did nothing of the kind. Slowly he dropped down on all fours. Slowly he turned and began to walk away. He didn't hurry at all. He pretended that he didn't know that any one was about. He stopped and looked off in another direction. Then he started off again as if he were simply out walking for his health. Finally he disappeared amongst the bushes. He had preserved his self-respect.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Good Friends.
Take time to select a good library for the growing boy or girl. Good books at hand in their rooms will prove fine comrades and they will soon learn to disdain books of low caliber.

Save the Monogram.
How we bemoan the handkerchief that is worn out leaving the monogram intact. Cut out the monogram in a circle, leaving enough material to turn in and slip stitch this onto a plain handkerchief.

For the Poor Farmer.
The careless potato parer wastes at least 10 per cent of the food value of the vegetable. If you find you eat away too much of the potato, invest in a 10-cent parer that will limit the amount you can remove.

Odor and Ends.
The cold meat supper is never complete without an appetizing relish.

Bread crumbs are better than cracker crumbs for frying purposes as they absorb less grease. Carrots should be boiled in as little water as possible, with a good-sized lump of butter in the saucepan. Season when serving.

Green Corn Croquettes

This is a good way to use leftover corn. Grate the corn from cob and put into saucepan. To four cupfuls of corn add one cupful of sifted flour, one-fourth cupful of butter, one cup of milk, pepper and salt to taste. Stir thoroughly over fire, add one teaspoonful of sugar. Remove from fire and when cool stir in three-fourths cupful of bread crumbs. Shape into croquettes and fry in hot lard. Drain, garnish with parsley and lemon and serve at once.

LIVING PROOF.
COMPLAINT has been made that some of the so-called model houses which go up so fast in the suburban district of New York are built to be sold, not to be lived in.

Be that as it may, a little story is being told of a real estate dealer whose operations in the commuting zone have been highly successful. The only trouble is that he can't work the same side of the street twice.

He had snared a prospective buyer—one of those ten-dollars-down-and-ten-dollars-a-week-as-long-as-you-live prospects, and in his car the promoter took him out on Long Island to look at a cottage which he thought would just suit the needs of the customer.

The building was in the process of construction. It had been started on Monday; on Friday it would be ready for occupancy. But this was a Wednesday, and while the foundations were finished and the sides were up and the roof had been pasted on, the painting and the interior trim and the finishing touches were yet to be added.

The dealer led the proposed victim inside the structure. The plasterers were just concluding their part of the contract.
"Now then," said the salesman, beaming with pride, "what do you think of this for a house?"

"Ain't she built kind of flimsy?" inquired the home-seeker.

"Flimsy? Flimsy?" screamed the indignant realtor. "You call this a flimsy job? Wait, I'll show you."

"Hey, Jim," he called to a workman on the other side of the partition.

"What?" asked Jim.

"Jim, step up close to the dividing wall between us. Get as close to it as you can."

"All right," said Jim, "here I am, almost touching it."

"Now, Jim, you can hear me speaking through the wall, can't you?"

"Sure."

"But you can't see me through this wall, can you, Jim?"

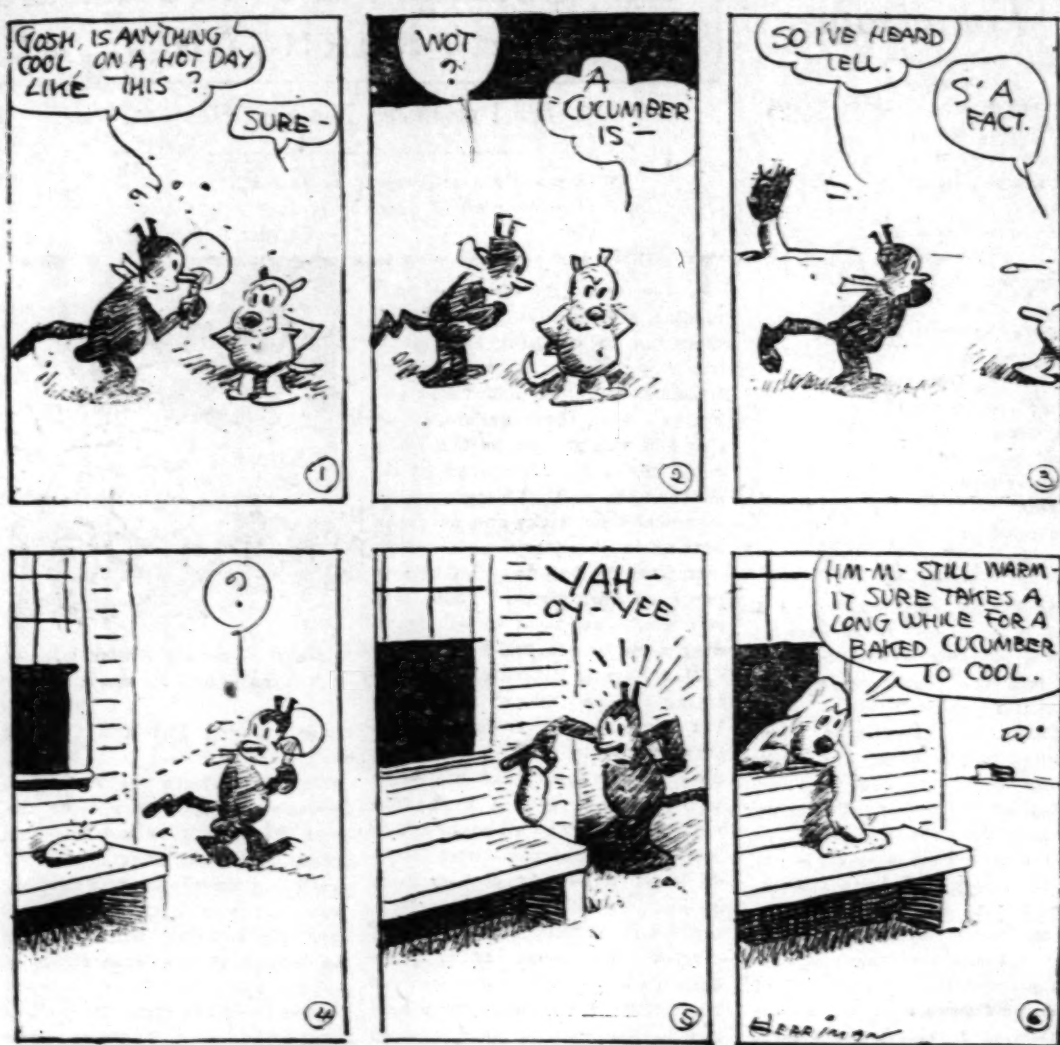

"Nope."

With a smile of triumph and satisfaction the promoter turned to the customer:

"Now, that's what I call a wall!" he said.

GRAPHIC ANALYSIS MADE OF FRANKS MURDER PLOT

Failure to Hide the Boy's Body Sufficiently the Breaking Point in 'Coldly Intellectual Plan.'

YOUTHS "DEVILISH IN DELIBERATION"

Assistant State's Attorney Savage Makes an Impassioned Denunciation of Loeb and Leopold.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Failure to hide sufficiently the body of Robert Franks was the breaking point in the plot of Nathan Leopold Jr.
and Richard Loeb, according to the State's analysis of the crime given today before Judge John R. Caverty by Joseph Savage, assistant State's Attorney.

In impassioned denunciations
of the defendants and with waving arms and pounding fists, Savage told the Court that, if Leopold had heaped the body well into the culvert instead of pushing it with his feet, it would not have been found.
"They would not have been appeared in 100,000 years," said Savage.

He described the attempts to get $10,000 ransom from Bobby's father, pointing out that the identification of the body, because known to Franks only five minutes before he received his last message from "George Johnson," the name being used to sign the ransom letter.

Savage asserted that Leopold and Loeb had drawn their plans so close that if the father had followed directions and gone to a drug store to get a furnished by the kidnappers would have been sent scurrying to a railroad depot, there to board a train due to leave a few minutes later. In the parlor car he had furnished a letter addressed to Franks and giving full directions on how to throw the money from the moving train.

"They would have reached the designated point in their automobile at that precise moment, if the plans were on time," said Savage.
"How could they have been traced?
We one knew whence came the telephone call to Mr. Franks, nor who had ordered the cab sent to his home. No one would have known who telephoned the drug store and the father would have had no chance to notify the police in advance of where he had been led to go or how to dispose of the money. "It was a coldly intellectual, devilish in its deliberation," said Savage.

Powder Puffs Kept Busy

Extra chairs were squeezed into hall corners for the afternoon session and everyone was filled. Two-hundreds of the spectators were women and the hot muggy atmosphere caused frequent use of sandy hoses and powder puffs as precaution against heat strokes.

Despite the heat Savage had a moment to spare as he said it would sweep its intermittent breeze him.

The detective work of Police Captain William Schoenacher secured commendation with State's Attorney Savage's tactics as the Assistant State's Attorney continued
the narration of the steps by which Leopold and Loeb were brought to the confession stage.

Savage's Narrative of the Murder of Robert Franks.

Savage continued today his narrative of the evidence, picking up where he left off yesterday at the stage of the crime where Robert Franks' body had been conveyed to the railroad culvert at 15th street.

He quoted Leopold as having said he failed to take proper precautions and tried to force the body in with his feet. The information was that the body would not be found further into the drain.

10 minutes after he had placed the body in that pipe, and telephoned for honor, to his sweetheart, a highly respected young woman of the community," said Savage.

He told of Leopold's message to his home in which the youth asked an aunt wait for him so he could drive her home. The burning of the clothes of Bobby Franks was described.

"To show you how cautious they were in this plan," he added, "they took from the clothing a clock and a buckle and set aside these items because they knew these objects would not burn and Leopold thought of the stretch that might come from the blood-stained re-
